Curtain Of Fire Meets Red Hordes

'Defend Seoul' Order May Ruin Enemy Hopes Of May Day Prize

Chinese Communists poured down from the north for a mass assault. Airmen spotted more than 3,000 Red vehicles moving along the western front. A force of 20,000 Communists were reported gathered as shock troops for the assault.

Only probing attacks were reported in the early hours Monday.

Van Fleet planned a defence north of the city, not house-to-house street fighting.

Gen. MacArthur and Lt.-Gen. Mathhew B. Ridgway had made no attempt to hold the city against the Chinese offensive earlier in the year. They said it was of no military importance.

But Van Fleet said Seoul has prestige as Korea's historic capital. He described the Seoul area and the line of the Han River which flows south of the city as "vital and strategic."

GLAD OF CHANCE

U.N. forces, he said, "welcome the opportunity to destroy the Communist army north of the Han."

Associated Press correspondent Frank H. King reported after Van Fleet's press conference that "United Nations forces will not be sacrificed unnecessarily" to hold Seoul.

One of Van Fleet's corps commanders said the final decision on whether his men hold the Han River "depends on what is thrown at us."

MUCH MANPOWER

The Reds, have plenty of reserves, despite 70,000 casualties suffered in the first seven days of their offensive.

As censors blue-pencilled all mileages, artillery and planes hammered the Reds. American tank patrols slashed through the Reds at night. One force rumbled 11 miles north of Seoul at Uijongbu.

The U.S. heavy cruiser Toledo joined the defence of Seoul. Her eight-inch guns fired more than 170 rounds at Reds northwest of the capital Sunday "with excellent results."

Taft, Acheson Debate Issues Of Korean War

Soviet Has Other Threats In Offing

WASHINGTON (UP—Secretary of State Dean Acheson urged today that the Korean war be contained within Korea and Sen. Robert A. Taft (R.-O.) said from the same platform that such a policy is "utterly ridiculous."

Acheson and Taft debated the foreign policy question at the opening convention session of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

Acheson flatly rejected proposals by Gen. Douglas MacArthur that Nationalist China troops be used and that Manchurian bases be bombed.

Taft, on the other hand, gave his full support to these proposals and said the American people must soon decide between Acheson's policy which he said "shows the world that aggression pays," and MacArthur's policy.

Taft rejected the theory that MacArthur's proposals would incite World War III.

Acheson said United Nations intervention in Korea already had achieved major accomplishments and there now are two ways in which the Korean situation may develop:

"One is that the fighting may spread despite our efforts to limit it," he said. "Further acts of the aggressor could touch off world war.

"If this happens, the responsibility for it will rest squarely on the Kremlin and its agents in Peiping."

He said the other outcome is that "the fighting may be brought to an end in Korea."

Acheson said it is "important to our security that this attack in Korea be stopped in its tracks." But he cautioned that it is not "the only Soviet thrust we must bear in mind."

"The Soviets are using satellite troops for this aggression, keeping their own forces in reserve," he said. "It would further their strategy if we were to expend our major strength against the forces and the territory of their satellites, or if we were to neglect other vital interests in meeting this thrust."

Canada Clear On U.S. Demand

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's capital, sometimes embarrassed in the past by United Nations' calls for troops for Korea, is taking the latest one in stride. The feeling here is that this is one call that isn't aimed at Ottawa.

It came during the week-end from Warren Austin, chief U.S. delegate to U.N., who said the U.S. expects every country to make an effort in Korea in proportion to its means.

Official quarters here pointed out that Canada's 25th Brigade is en route to Korea and when it gets there Canada will rank third among the countries which have sent troops to that theatre.

There will be more than 6,000 Canadians in the campaign then and this is considered here to be a full-scale Canadian effort in comparison with what other countries are doing.

WORLD'S BIGGEST BANG GOES OFF IN 10 DAYS

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. atomic experts probably will set off the world's greatest explosion within the next 10 days.

The nuclear-fission blast will be the grand finale to a new series of tests at the Eniwetok proving grounds in the Pacific's Marshall Islands.

The latest Eniwetok series, like those during January and February at the proving grounds at Frenchman's Flats, Nev., become one of the lesser-kept atomic secrets as far as the time element has been concerned.

While the Atomic Energy Commission has made no announcements regarding the time schedule for the tests, there have been indications from other authoritative quarters. Representative F. Edward Herbert (Dem.-La), appointed by the armed services committee of the House of Representatives to be an observer, told reporters earlier this month he would leave Washington May 1 and return May 12.

ALCAN TO GET U.K. FUNDS TO EXPAND

Britain To Advance $40,000,000 In Return For Increased Aluminum Shipments To 1955

MONTREAL (CP)—Officials of the Aluminum Company of Canada today announced an agreement with the British Government to increase shipments of Canadian aluminum to Britain between 1952 and 1955.

Under the new arrangement, the British Ministry of Supply will advance to the company $40,000,000 against unsecured interest-bearing notes maturing 20 years from Jan. 1, 1954.

In return Britain will have first call on an additional 50,000 metric tons of annual production. This brings its total first call to 250,000 metric tons out of the company's total integrated productive capacity, expected to exceed 550,000 metric tons a year when the $220,000,000 expansion program announced last week is completed in Quebec and British Columbia.

The principal and interest payments on the loan will be subject to abatement in any year in which the company's annual production falls below certain stipulated levels.

The Ministry of Supply has agreed to exercise its over-all first call by purchasing 250,000 metric tons for delivery during 1954 and a like tonnage for delivery during 1955.

GRATIFYING

In connection with the announcement, Lands and Forest Minister E. T. Keney recalled a similar agreement was made between Alcan and Britain when the company's Shipshaw plant in the east was constructed.

Mr. Kenney said it was gratifying to know Britain would be taking the amounts of aluminum listed in the Montreal dispatch, adding: "It points further to the justification of the development by Alcan in our province."

Plans To Bomb Manchuria Can Be Made Fast

LONDON (AP)—Britain, the United States and other countries with forces in Korea are setting up machinery to make a "snap decision"—if necessary—on whether to bomb Manchurian air bases.

Informed sources said this machinery is being established in Washington.

The Foreign Office would say only the question of whether to bomb Manchurian air bases if the Communists unleash large air attacks still is under review and consultation.

British agreement to such a move probably would come only after a cabinet decision. Britain feels such decision should be kept a military secret.

Some officials said privately that if the Communists start major air attacks, Britain will join other United Nations in retaliatory attacks on their Manchurian bases.

But they indicated that as Britain is committed to limiting the war to Korea such action would be approved only if it was believed absolutely necessary to protect U.N. forces.

Dead Recluse May Have Left Fortune

Late Leonard Leney sitting among junk.

Saanich Home May Hold English Heir's Estate

By HUMPHRY DAVY

An old ramshackle home on Lindsey Street in Saanich, laced with cobwebs, may conceal a hidden treasure estimated at over $100,000—the savings and precious possessions of an aged recluse, it was disclosed today.

The home is that of hermit Leonard Leney, 71, reputed heir of a wealthy English family, who died in Royal Jubilee Hospital recently.

Alan E. Bigelow, administrator of the estate, said there was a possibility that money and valuable possessions might be hidden in the solitary rambling home sitting amidst a 17-acre orchard. He added that a search of the house might be organized before the estate is settled.

Saanich police, meanwhile, said they would keep watch over the house to prevent vandalism.

Leney came to Victoria 20 years ago and at the time was a comparatively wealthy man, Mr. Bigelow said. A bank account and some oil stocks were found after his death.

The lawyer said he does not know yet what the total value of the estate will be. He did not say what the bank deposits totaled.

"We have yet to open a strong box in the bank," he said.

NEVER SIGNED WILL

The recluse made a will but never signed it, the lawyer revealed. It was drawn up before his death but the day he was to sign it Leney became delirious.

Mr. Bigelow said he was instructed by a cousin, Eric Leney of Duncan, to administer the estate. He said Leney has a brother and sister living in England.

Leney was brought up before the Sanich police court a few months before his death on a fire hazard charge laid under the Fire Marshall's Act. He was fined for leaving refuse and paper piled up around his home.

HIS LIFE A MYSTERY

Leney's life is wrapped in mystery. He lived alone in his two-story house, surrounded by trees. He seldom left the confines of his property. He accumulated in his house a mass of old newspapers, tin cans, pieces of wood and trinkets of all kinds.

When I visited the house today I found it ghostly, smothered by dense vegetation. The once stately garden was weed-ridden but tulips still bloomed there.

WINDOWS BROKEN

Front windows were punctured with holes. The front entrance was blocked by bushes left to run wild. Rubbish and tin cans were heaped about everywhere.

The rear door, used by the recluse, was locked with nine padlocks. Inside the rooms were littered with rubbish and all kinds of junk. A bat sleepily hung from the wall. Cobwebs were everywhere. A rat scurried across the floor and was lost among a pile of newspapers.

Not far from the house a neglected barn stood. It contained farm equipment, some of it perhaps 60 years old.

Throughout the orchard were well-worn footpaths, used by the hermit.

Truman Hands Congress $60 Billion Arms Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman today sent Congress a $60,679,414,690 defence budget and said Russia's rulers have pushed the world "to the brink of a general war."

The huge requested appropriation is for the United States' own military costs and to help arm its Allies.

One item in the budget was for $29,500,000 for an atomic-powered submarine and $218,000,000 for a big aircraft carrier.

(Defence Department budget experts told reporters the nuclear-powered submarine might be ready in the early summer of 1953.)

The message broke down in more detail the military estimates included in Truman's general budget, sent to Congress in January, for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

In a letter to House Speaker Sam Rayburn, accompanying today's estimates, Truman said:

"If the Soviet Union chooses to unleash a general war, the free world must be in a position to stop the attack and strike back decisively and at once at the seats of Soviet power.

"We believe that the best path to peace is through building combined defences for the free world sufficiently powerful to insure disaster for the aggressors if they launch a new world war."

The $60,679,414,690 asked compares with $57,590,608,884 which has been enacted or recommended for the current fiscal year.

Sketching the planned use of the money, Truman said:

"For the army, these funds will equip and maintain 18 divisions plus separate combat and supporting units. The navy, under these recommendations, will maintain an active fleet of 1,161 ships. The Marine Corps will maintain 2 1-3 divisions and other supporting units. The air force will continue to build toward 95 war wings."

Violence In N.Z. Strike

AUCKLAND, N.Z. (CP)—A reported attempt at railway sabotage and the beating up of the president of an independent union today marked the 11th week of New Zealand's dock strike.

A bridge was shaken by explosives as 30 non-striking coal miners were crossing it in a train. Prime Minister Sydney Holland called it a "diabolical act of sabotage."

None of the miners, going to the Waikato coal fields to replace others who had walked out in sympathy with the dockers, were hurt.

The second act of violence occurred when three men broke into the home of Raymond Belsham, president of a new "break-away" watersider workers' union, beat him up and fled.

Hospital Inquiry

Public inquiry ordered by the provincial government into the case of a Vancouver woman who allegedly lost her unborn baby because there was no room for her in hospitals of the city will open May 14.

The inquiry, to be conducted by Mr. Justice H. S. Wood, will be held in Vancouver.

Want Day Of Prayer

NEW DELHI (AP) — India's holy men, ending a convention dedicated to world peace, urged all people today to observe Sunday, May 13, as an international day of prayer, and sent messages to three religious leaders seeking co-operation in a drive to end war. Messages were sent to Pope Pius, the Archbishop of Canterbury and Tibet's Dalai Lama.

STATE STREET TO RUN SHORT

LONDON (AP) — Supply Minister George Strauss said today the British steel industry, which passed into state ownership on Feb. 15, will be unable to match its 1950 output this year.

Strauss placed the blame on a shortage of materials. Reserve stocks of iron ore, pig iron and scrap have been cut to a "dangerously low level," he told the House of Commons. Steel production last year was 16,300,000 tons.

Man Drowns 6 Others Safe At Week-End

VANCOUVER (CP)—A seaman was drowned and six other persons were rescued during week-end boating accidents in widely separated parts of British Columbia.

Fritz Raynor, a deckhand from Portland, Ore., was lost overboard when he fell from the Vancouver tugboat company's La Belle near Alert Bay.

Robert Stewart, 18-year-old Langley youth, narrowly escaped drowning in Semiahmoo Bay. His kayak overturned Sunday and forced him to cling to it for an hour.

Five Trail men were pulled from Kootenay Lake by a Nelson man after their boat capsized nearly a mile off shore.

Ronald W. Waters, 40, put out in a rowboat after hearing the men's shouts for help. They spent 15 minutes clinging to their overturned boat.

Burglars Failed

Thieves made an unsuccessful attempt to break open the vault in the office of the Horton shingle mill, over the week-end.

The burglars used an acetylene torch to cut a hole between the dial and the handle of the large vault but did not get the door open. Liquid air and acetylene gas tanks used in the operation were found in bushes back of the office.

Entry was gained through an unlocked side window, police said.

'HOW I TOOK THE STONE'

Ian's Coat Retrieved, We Hurry From London

This is the seventh in an 18-article series by the daring leader of the group of Scottish Nationalists who removed the Stone of Scones from Westminster Abbey last Christmas Eve.

By IAN HAMILTON

We had lost our way many times coming out, and we expected to do the same going back, but suddenly I realized that we had hit Lambeth Bridge, and in a few minutes we were on Vauxhall Bridge. We looked right across towards the Abbey, and wondered what was happening in the Confessor's Chapel.

We stopped the car on Millbank and argued who should retrieve the coat. Alan claimed it was his job since he had left it there but I would not listen to him, for I could not sit in the car waiting while someone else had the excitement.

I walked over to the car park where a few hours before I had smoked and thought we were beaten. There was no one in sight, and I immediately picked up the coat and returned to the car.

I looked at it ruefully. It was worn and torn in many places. There was a rent two feet long in one place, and I knew it was beyond repair.

It had been a good coat, and I wondered what my father would say when he saw it.

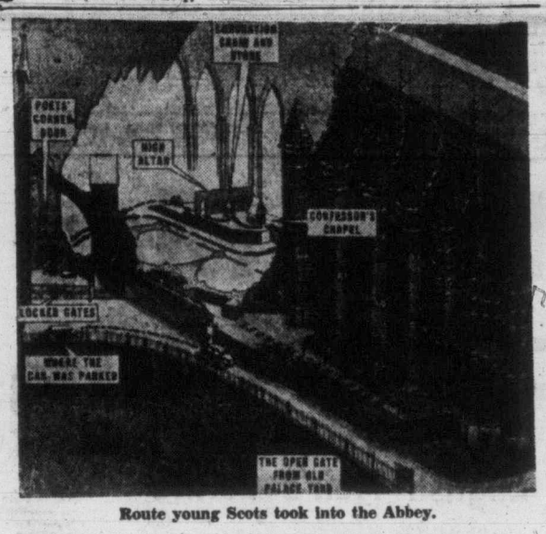

As we drove away, I suddenly remembered the plaque which had been in my coat pocket when we were dragging the Stone. I asked Alan what he had done with it.

"I hid it on a bombed site," he said. We went back to try to find it but Alan could not remember where the bombed site was.

Then he laughed. "Never mind,' he said. "When they find it they'll dig up every bombed site in London to try to find the Stone."

We had not foreseen then that it would be a month before the plaque was discovered.

Meanwhile the police were to concern themselves with watery hiding places rather than with derelict lots. In the days that followed the London police showed a great affinity for water!

I took over the controls for I knew London better than Alan. We headed west out through Hammersmith. Our first mood of elation was past and we settled down to see the thing through to the end.

We had to meet Gavin at Reading, and although Alan should have gone by train in case the car should be stopped, we did not press the matter. There was a haven of comradeship in the car and we were both so exhausted that we needed each other's support.

As soon as Alan was in the back seat, he fell fast asleep. I was glad, for he still had much to do.

I was certain that I would be picked up before lunch time, and the responsibility for finding a car and removing the Stone to a safer hiding place devolved on him. The more sleep he got, the better.

76 Hours Without Sleep

Furthermore, although I had got over the reaction to the night's excitement, and I felt I could go on for ever, I did not want to relax, for it was 76 hours since we had slept, and we might be so tired that we would have to stop.

We arrived at Reading by 10 o'clock and immediately went to the station for a wash.

There was no sign of Gavin, but we had not arranged to meet until 4 o'clock and he had probably stayed in London to have a meal.

We could both have enjoyed a meal, too, for we had not eaten since early the previous night and were starving.

It was Christmas Day, however, and the town was locked up and deserted.

I gave most of the money I had to Alan but together we could only muster about 15 pounds. Gavin also had some, but we were afraid that even pooling their budget, they would not have enough to hire a car. So I made arrangements to phone Neil in Glasgow and have another 10 pounds sent to Gavin to be collected at the Strand post office.

Then we wished each other luck and I drove off, leaving Alan looking after me in the station square.

It was a bright morning, and the roads were dry and fit for speeding. I kept my toe down, and the car responded like a thoroughbred. I wanted to put as much distance as possible between myself and Reading, for I still thought my arrest was imminent, and I did not want the police to think my accomplices were in Reading.

I drove out on the magnificent road to Newbury, keeping my eyes open all the time for a telephone box, for I wished to phone Neil to ask him to send money down for Gavin and Alan.

Near Whatcham I stopped, and hammered on a pub door for change for the telephone call-box, and then got through to Neil.

"This is Ian Johnstone," I said excitedly when at last he came.

"Who the hell's Ian Johnstone?" he asked. He had forgotten my code name and he sounded ill-tempered as though newly risen.

"You know Ian Johnstone," I said and then he recognized my voice. I made the arrangements according to the code we had arranged but he had forgotten Gavin's code name, and I had to mention his Christian name before he knew to whom the money was to be addressed.

At the end of the conversation, I added casually: "Oh by the way, Neil! The book down here has been a great success."

He knew what I meant that time.

"Has it?" he asked, a flame in his voice. But lest he ask more and betray himself on the long distance line, I put down the phone without whetting his appetite with details. Long afterwards Neil recorded his experience of that morning for me.

Plugged Gap In Line At Fearful Odds As R.O.K. Division Collapsed

By RONALD BATCHELOR

ON THE KOREAN FRONT (Reuters) — The 27th Commonwealth Brigade's action last week in plugging a 10-mile-wide gap in United Nations lines north of Kapyong was described today by U.S. Maj.-Gen. William Hoge as "superb."

Hoge, commander of the U.S. 9th Corps, recounted during a flying visit to the front the heroic story of the Brigade—composed chiefly of Canadian, Australian and British troops.

He said the Brigade fought against "tremendous odds and did not budge an inch."

SLOWED ADVANCE

It was rushed into the line to fill a gap left in the path of the advancing Chinese by the collapse of an entire South Korean division. It held ground against high casualties, inflicting tremendous losses on the Chinese and slowing their advance timetable by an estimated 48 hours.

Not until orders arrived from command did the Commonwealth men pull out.

Australians and Canadians who bore the brunt of the onslaught had, in Hoge's opinion, killed as many Chinese "as the combined strength of two Commonwealth battalions."

The first clear picture of the desperate battle against seas of advancing Chinese was emerging today as reports filtered in.

The all-British brigade, the 29th, stopped the full weight of the Chinese attack down the main corridor toward Seoul.

North of Kapyong the Commonwealth 27th was rushed into action to stop a dangerous break-through where the South Koreans had collapsed.

TOLD TO PULL OUT

Both stood firm and fought the Chinese to a standstill before withdrawing in conformity with the tactical plan of the United Nations commander.

The battle will make history in the regiments concerned.

Though many details are still obscured for security reasons, it can be stated that the 29th's main loss in casualties was suffered in the Royal Gloucestershire Regiment.

(The Associated Press reported Saturday that the Royal Gloucestershire Regiment was almost completely wiped out in Korean fighting. There were only about 100 known survivors from a total force of probably 1,000 men, the AP said.)

The Gloucesters are an old regiment of the British army with a record of gallant fighting in some of history's greatest battles. It was they who fought under Wolfe against the French on the Plains of Abraham in Quebec.

Vogeler Warns Democracies Of Red Peril

VIENNA (AP)—Robert A. Vogeler, who left for U.S. by plane today, still haunted by nightmare experiences in a Communist prison, broke down before a television camera Sunday while warning Americans that "what happened to me can happen to them."

The 39-year-old business man, released Saturday after serving 17 months of a 15-year sentence in a Hungarian jail on spy charges, spoke with emotion.

He was so nervous from the sudden shock of his homecoming that his doctor forbade three scheduled radio broadcasts to his homeland. But Vogeler insisted upon talking before an NBC television camera set up at his home.

"I am convinced," he said, "that my incident is just one of a series of planned attacks on democracy as we understand democracy."

"As for me, this is very important . . . I feel that every individual American should realize that what happened to me can happen to them. If we don't all band together to destroy these enemies of individual freedom, independence and liberty—of the right of a person to go where he wants, to say what he wants, to say without hindrance by authorities or police . . .

"You never realize what freedom means until you lose it."

Vogeler told newspaper men Saturday there was "some truth" in the confession he made at the People's Court trial. But he said both physical and mental pressure were used to obtain the statemnt and it contained many technical inaccuracies because he became "mixed up" in long interrogations.

Gale Wrecks U.S. Airliner In Indiana Killing 11 Aboard

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP) — Eleven mangled bodies were brought out Sunday from a muddy stubble field where a United Airlines plane crashed and exploded Saturday night in a violent thunderstorm.

The eight passengers and crew of three plunged to their deaths as the big DC-3 plane twisted, turned over on its back, and shattered in the field between two thickets. The plane had been approaching Fort Wayne airport for a landing.

Some gusts of wind blew in at 85 miles an hour. The tower instructed the plane to turn back east to miss the storm. A few moments later, the tower man saw an orange flash to the east.

Among the victims was Dr. H. Clive McAllister, 57, medical director of the Lincoln National Life Insurance Co., Fort Wayne. He was returning from a business trip to Montreal.

Coal Production Shows Big Drop

Coal production in Vancouver Island mines dropped off considerably during March, compared with production figures for the same month last year.

According to figures released by Mines Minister MacDonald, Vancouver Island's coal output last month was 45,962 tons. In March, 1950, production was 51,382 tons.

The provincial coal output for the month was 139,821 tons for March, compared with last year's 170,586 tons.

Churchill Launches All-Out Drive To Force Early General Election

By EDWARD CURTIS

LONDON (AP)—For the first time in 14 months, Winston Churchill has real hopes of shoving Prime Minister Attlee's Labor government out of office.

His lever: A left-wing Labor revolt over Britain's arms budget.

His tactics: To drive a wedge into the Labor Party split, shattering Attlee's slim majority of five in the House of Commons, and force a general election soon.

The feud inside the Labor Party has brought the party to its weakest point since it was returned to power by a scant margin in the general election of February, 1950.

Despite the growing struggle over the arms budget inside the party, Attlee appears determined to hold on to power as long as possible, possibly until next autumn.

But the aging Churchill, the Conservative leader, moved rapidly to exploit the split.

Churchill's first move was to toss into the House of Commons a motion designed to put the Labor rebels in a voting dilemma.

What the rebels, led by former Labor Minister Aneurin Bevan, do may decide Attlee's future.

Churchill's motion, which comes up for debate and a vote Tuesday, reads:

"That this House learns with anxiety that the rearmament program which was approved in February, was based on estimates of defense production which were not accepted by the ministers principally concerned.

Bevan, Harold Wilson, President of the Board of Trade, and John Freeman, Parliamentary Secretary of the Ministry of Supply, quit the government because they said Britain couldn't fulfill her planned three-year £4,700,000,000 ($13,865,000,000) arms program.

TO STAND ASIDE

The three and their left-wing supporters inside the party, however, have pledged themselves not to do anything which might bring down Attlee's government.

Three important developments were reported in the party fight Saturday:

1. The 750,000-strong Scottish Trades Union Congress, for the second day running, ignored the advice of their pro-government leaders, and amid cheers, voted in favor of policies urged by Bevan.

2. The Amalgamated Engineering Union, whose 800,000 members play a big part in Britain's arms drive, has called for an emergency Labor Party conference to consider changes in Britain's foreign policies.

3. Hugh Gaitskell, Chancellor of the Exchequer, told a Labor Party rally in Glasgow the Government is neither giving up its Socialism nor attacking the country's social services in carrying out its rearmament program.

SCOTS MAKE DEMANDS

Scottish Trade Unionists, traditionally more to the left than their fellow-workers in England, demanded at a conference in Dunoon that the government restore cuts made in social service spending.

The Scottish unions called also for "a stop to United States interference in our trade policy" and expansion of British trade with Russia, Red China and the Red-led countries of East Europe.

For the second time in a month, the Amalgamated Engineering Union demanded an emergency national conference of the Labor Party to consider the Korean situation, relations with Communist China, projected German and Japanese rearmament and continuation of American bases in Britain.

FISHING FLEET SAILS

B.C. Craft Bid For Rich Halibut Catch

An armada of 75 trim, white-hulled ships sailed out of Victoria over the week-end hoping to reap a rich halibut harvest in British Columbia's northern waters.

They were joined by more than 100 boats from Vancouver and Steveston.

The fishermen sailed off into two months of silence in northern seas. Only once every dozen days will the boats with their seven-man crews touch dock and then at some remote cannery.

The rest of the time, they will be 20 or 30 miles offshore where the ocean stands on end."

Between tomorrow, when the halibut season opens, and the first week of June, the Canadian fleet will share 50-50 with the American boats a catch of at least 25,000,000 pounds.

During the following month, the ships will move north from the Queen Charlotte Islands to the Gulf of Alaska to take another 26,000,000 pounds.

Then it's off to the Bering Sea for the hardier skippers and crews to catch another 500,000 pounds.

TO SPLIT CATCH

All told, the Canadian and U.S. fleets will split between them an amount equal to 70 per cent of the total world catch.

To B.C., it will mean a landed value of at least $6,000,000 and much more than that when firms have frozen, stored, packed and shipped fish to waiting markets in eastern Canada and the U.S.

The first catches will be landed at Namu, Butedale, Klemtu and Prince Rupert on the northern coast. Later, boatloads of fish will go on the big board at the fish dock here to be auctioned off the highest bidder.

The advent of the big "superseiner" type of vessel with tremendous power and carrying capacity has revolutionized what was once a year-round industry.

Many big halibuters now can take on 25 tons of ice and return to port in 12 days with 80,000 pounds of halibut.

Britain To Get Unsold Surplus Of Ont. Cheese

OTTAWA (CP)—Britain has negotiated a cheese contract with Ontario producers, agreeing to take all of their unsold surplus in 1951, informed quarters disclosed today.

Informants said details of the agreement likely will be disclosed within a few days. The agreement was concluded in Toronto last Thursday.

The price involved is believed to be slightly higher than the 28 cents a pound floor established by the Federal government.

Ever since the Second World War, Britain has negotiated her Canadian cheese contracts with the Canadian government.

STRAIGHT TO PRODUCERS

However, this year, the Federal government suggested Britain go straight to the producers, negotiating through the Ontario Cheese Producers' Marketing Board, set up by the producers themselves.

Previously, too, the Federal government has subsidized sales of cheese to Britain, but this year it was decided to halt all further Federal financial aid on food shipments to the U.K.

Nationalists Of Iran Take Charge

Anti-British Group Dedicated To Seizure Of Oil, Minority Party

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—Anti-British Nationalists prepared today to take the final step that would give them control of Iran's government and authorization for immediate nationalization of the country's strategic oil industry.

Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlevi reluctantly approved appointment to the premiershhip of F. Mohammed Mossadegh, elderly leader of the minority National Bloc which has headed the nationalization drive.

The Senate, meanwhile, prepared to meet tonight to complete action on the bill ordering the government to take over immediately the $500,000,000 British-owned Anglo-Iranian Oil Company, the country's only developed oil enterprise.

Senate approval of the legislation, unanimously voted by the lower house (Majlis) Saturday night, was a foregone conclusion.

Western observers, and many Iranian political leaders, view the Premier-designate as a visionary without concrete plans for the operation of the complex oil company, backbone of the country's tottering economy.

They fear a sudden, unprepared-for take-over might slow oil production to a trickle and produce economic chaos which would open the way for vigorous Communist interference both from within Iran and from Russia across the northern border.

But with Parliament terrorized by violence which began with the assassination last month of Premier Gen. Ali Razmara, Mossadegh's Nationalists continue to sweep all before them.

Though the National Bloc holds only seven of the 136 seats in the Majlis, both Parliamentary Houses in a closed week-end session endorsed the Nationalist leader to succeed Premier Hussein Ala, who resigned Friday rather than carry out an oil nationalization act he believed was devised too hastily.

STAY CALM, SAYS PREMIER

TEHRAN (AP)—F. Mohammed Mossadegh, the man who has vowed to drive all foreign influence out of Iran and nationalize the country's vast oil wealth, moved into the office of premier today and urged this country to remain calm during Communist-sparked May Day demonstrations.

Bombing China Would Help Soviet Scheme

WASHINGTON (CP) — State Secretary Dean Acheson said today that Russian strategy would be helped if the United States extended the Korean war by bombing Manchurian bases in Communist China.

Korea represents a Communist attempt "to divert our attention from Europe" and "to dominate Asia," he told the 39th annual meeting of the American Chamber of Commerce.

"It would further their strategy if we were to expend our major strength against the forces and the territory of their satellites or if we were to neglect other vital interests in meeting this thrust.

"Korea is not the only Soviet thrust we must bear in mind," he warned. The fighting in the Far East "may spread despite our efforts to limit it."

"If this happens the responsibility for it will rest squarely on the Kremlin and its agents in Peiping."

But the possibility remains that the fighting may be brought to an end in Korea.

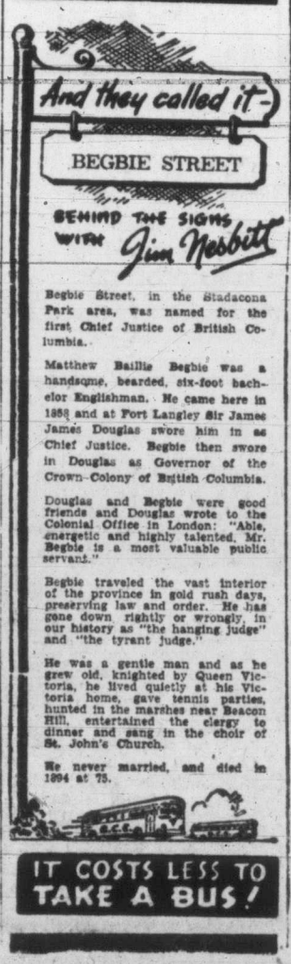

"The best way to do this is for us to continue firm in our determination to meet and repel the enemy until it becomes clear to him that his aggression cannot pay," Acheson said.

AMPUTEES MEET

Meeting of Workmen's Compensation Board amputees will be held Wednesday night at 8 in reading room of Pro Patria Branch, Canadian Legion.

Begbie Street, in the Stadacona Park area, was named for the first Chief Justice of British Columbia.

Matthew Baillie Begbie was a handsome, bearded, six-foot bachelor Englishman. He came here in 1858 and at Fort Langley Sir James Douglas swore him in as Chief Justice. Begbie then swore in Douglas as Governor of the Crown Colony of British Columbia.

Douglas and Begbie were good friends and Douglas wrote to the Colonial Office in London: "Able, energetic and highly talented, Mr. Begbie is a most valuable public servant."

Begbie traveled the vast interior of the province in gold rush days, preserving law and order. He has gone down rightly or wrongly in our history as "the hanging judge" and "the tyrant judge."

He was a gentle man and as he grew old, knighted by Queen Victoria, he lived quietly at his Victoria home, gave tennis parties, hunted in the marshes near Beacon Hill, entertained the clergy to dinner and sang in the choir of St. John's Church.

He never married, and died in 1894 at 75.

The engineers are rebuilding East Germany's highway and bridge network to support tanks and other heavy artillery vehicles.

To Prosecute Violators Of Price Ruling

Black Beef Market To Be Headed Off

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Government will start prosecution of price control violators in four eastern cities this week in a move to head off a threatened black market in beef, it was learned today.

Official sources said the first big enforcement crackdown will start with about 10 accused black market cheats in the meat and clothing line in New York, Boston, Philadelphia and Miami. Others prosecutions are in the works, and will "move right along" from here on, these officials said.

At the head of the first list is an alleged meat price gouger, against whom the government is seeking a criminal indictment. The law carries a maximum penalty of one year in prison and $10,000 fine for each offence.

The others are civil cases, most of them involving over-charges, in which the government is seeking triple damages.

The accused price violators were not identified pending formal action by federal prosecutors.

Officials suggested strongly that a big reason for the crackdown at this time is to serve notice on would-be black marketeers that the beef price regulations which go into effect between May 7 and May 20 will be enforced to the limit.

Price Controller Michael V. DiSalle announced Saturday a series of orders designed to cut retail beef prices nine to 10 cents a pound by Oct. 1.

No One Can Escape

WHEN THE FEDERAL GOVERNment recently increased income taxes by 20 per cent it touched the pockets of only about half the working population. There are some 4,790,000 income earners in Canada. But only 2,500,000 pay any income tax. The remainder have always been exempt or were exempted in the huge tax reductions of the Government's post-war budgets.

No sensible man would suggest that the earner in the lowest income brackets should pay income taxes. It surely is clear, however, that half the earning population cannot pay the taxes of the whole. One half cannot support all governmental services for the other. Hence governments must reach by other taxes those who are exempted from income tax.

They are reached by various municipal and provincial taxes but mainly by federal sales taxes. Whether the income tax should be broadened, the present exemptions lowered, is a matter of dispute but one thing is certain—the people who escape income tax do not and cannot be allowed to escape taxation altogether. First because the other half of the population cannot afford to buy their governmental services for them; second, because these people, though their income is low, possess collectively a vast total purchasing power which, in these times of inflation, must be somewhat reduced.

It would be fairer to reduce it by income tax, according to ability to pay, than to reduce it by sales taxes which take no account of the taxpayer's individual circumstances. Still, the objection to a broadened and visible income tax is so vigorous that governments invariably resort to the invisible sales tax method, hiding their imposts in the price of goods.

The division of federal revenues between visible and invisible taxes remains virtually unchanged under the new budget. Last year the Federal Government collected 56 per cent of its taxes directly from individuals and corporations. This year it will collect 56.6 per cent in this fashion.

Clearly we are not moving toward the objective laid down in the historic Rowell-Sirois Report, which urged the expansion of the direct taxes and the drastic reduction of the indirect. We are still relying far too much—and the provinces intend, apparently to rely still more—on regressive taxes, disregarding ability to pay. At least it can be said for the Federal Government that it is not making this unbalance any worse. And if it is unable politically to expand the scope of direct taxes, it is forced, willy-nilly, to tax indirectly those who pay nothing directly.

Twisting The Law To Fit

THE THREE CHARGES LAID against Associated Press Correspondent William N. Oatis by the Czechoslovak Government are as vaguely worded as most of the allegations made in recent times against foreigners and citizens in Russia's satellite states. The head of the A.P. bureau in Prague has been arrested on charges that he has pursued "activities hostile to the state," that he has been "gathering and disseminating information considered secret by Czechoslovakia," and "spreading malicious information regarding the Czech state. . . ."

Such claims are easy to lodge, but may be difficult to disprove. "Activities hostile to the state" in an Iron Curtain country can mean anything the authorities wish it to mean. "Information considered secret" by a Communist Government can mean, for the purposes of political suppression, even information that has already been published in official organs. "Spreading malicious information" could all too often mean that a reporter had cabled home the simple truth to his head office. Truthfulness is not a virtue under dictatorship.

We should not let the frequency of these occurrences dim our recognition of their significance. Here is totalitarianism in full action—the kind of regime which some persons would like to see installed in this country. Oatis disappeared without a trace one night. It was only later that his arrest was announced. The state was all-powerful and could do as it wished. No newspaper campaign of protest, no public criticism, no "civil liberties" efforts, could be brought to his aid or that of any person similarly treated.

Even where a totalitarian regime insists that it exerts no censorship over foreign correspondents who stay within the law, the law is so easily manipulated to achieve the administration's ends that freedom of the press no longer exists. Mr. Oatis' case is only one of many—each of which carries an important ideological lesson for us.

Use And Abuse Of Beaches

RIGHT OF ACCESS TO PUBLIC beaches—an issue raised a year or two ago by a member of the parks and recreation branch of the B.C. Forest Service following a visit to Sooke, and revived by a recent incident in Saanich—should be a matter of primary concern to all people of this community. During the summer months the waterfront, particularly if it has a sandy or pebbled shore, is a favorite haunt of families. They should have easy means of reaching such natural playgrounds.

Of scarcely less importance is the manner in which visitors and picnickers treat the beaches once they reach them. Anyone acquainted with the more frequently used stretches of sandy shore must be impressed by the amount of litter left behind by groups which enjoy the amenities afforded them and mark their appreciation by leaving refuse for those who follow. A great deal of the accumulated rubbish can be attributed to the inadequate garbage disposal system employed in this community. At the same time, broken bottles and the danger they pose to young children, are most frequently the product of heedless action by beach users.

Our citizens are entitled to full enjoyment of public beaches. That right carries with it the responsibility to see that such privileges are not abused.

Choosing Our Words

MR. LAWRENCE HUNT OF NEW York is evidently an American with an understanding of other peoples. In a recent address he warned his own people to be chary about the free advice they give their foreign friends. "Advice to other nations," he says, "has always been the greatest American export, in volume if not in value, and we must expect and even welcome a fair balance of trade. But in these days of high tension we have what Anthony Eden pertinently calls the 'responsibility to choose our words'."

In much of their present criticism of Britain, Mr. Hunt adds, Americans "are perversely imitating the Russian tactics of vilification and abuse, even toward our staunchest ally." Most of the current American criticism of Britain for its failure to pull its weight in the free world alliance is, says Mr. Hunt, factually wrong. He observes, for example, that Britain has as many men fighting Communism as the United States, on the basis of relative population, and the British in southeast Asia have been fighting longer. And there simply is no comparison between the sacrifices made by the British and American peoples in the interests of defence.

"The Communists today, like the Nazis yesterday," Mr. Hunt concludes, "know that if they can divide Britain and America they can conquer the world." This division, of course, is Russia's main hope. Anyone who assists it by distributing false information and mere prejudice is, consciously or unconsciously, the friend of Communism.

Taking His Bow

WHILE IT WAS NOT UNEXPECTED that General MacArthur should have paid a visit to the Middle West region presided over by his great friend, Col. Robert McCormick, owner of the British-baiting Chicago Tribune, the exact purpose of his current triumphal tour to other cities is a little difficult to establish.

Were he openly aiming for political honors the trip would, of course, be a natural preliminary move. But both the General's declared intentions and his age—he is 71—point to abstention from the presidential race in the United States. MacArthur would be 73 when he came to accept office, if elected, and 77 at the end of his four-year term. For a job that has broken much younger men, such a burden of years, however stoutly borne, would be a tremendous handicap.

The popularity of the returned hero, as evidenced by the great crowds that turn out for all his appearances, certainly indicates a political asset of incalculable value. That is a factor that has not been overlooked by Republican Party leaders. But the fact remains that public fancy can change rapidly. It is a paradox that when MacArthur was supervising Korea much of his acclaim was dependent upon what went on at home. Now that he is home, it is the outcome of events in Korea that, more than anything else, will determine his future standing.

Loose Ends

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

IN a moving strain of nostalgia The Winnipeg Tribune laments the days when Canadians used to talk. They still extract certain sounds from their vocal cords, they still manage to articulate disjointed noises which their fellows understand but they no longer talk as their fathers talked.

Hutchison

Their voices, that is to say, are not used to convey their thoughts. The old art of conversation, as The Tribune says, is dead and a guest will certainly be insulted if he is asked merely to sit around a fire and commune with his host. A weary generation must be supplied with entertainment which it cannot supply itself.

THE TRIBUNE seems to think that the decay of conversation is a mere change in social customs. If it were only that, if only our manners had changed, it should cause no more alarm than the lipsticks, plunging necklines and hair-dos which are in constant flux. In fact the decay of conversation is something much more serious—it proclaims the decay of thought which conversation used to express.

This statement will be indignantly denied. Most people imagine that they are thinking furiously these days, but they have mistaken mere excitement and frustration for thought. Anyone who listens carefully to the sounds emerging from the human throat will soon detect in them a certain monotony, a deadly sameness, a wearisome repetition, as if they came from a common origin, as indeed they do. People in general are not thinking. They are parroting something they heard on the radio or read in the newspapers or saw on the movie screen. Somebody else is doing their thinking for them and using them as a ventriloquist's dummy. America is becoming a collective Charlie McCarthy without the wit of the original model.

THOUGHT, expressed in conversation, is a hard and lonely business, is much harder, for example, than managing a corporation or digging a ditch. You will find few tycoons who can think, still fewer who can express toughts if they have any, and not even the ditch digger, a much more interesting person as a rule, has a great deal to say for himself. Thus when print, radio and screen came along and offered thoughts already packaged, pre-digested and guaranteed to be harmless, America eagerly bought them as it buys cigarets or breakfast cereals. We are not satisfied with mass production of physical goods. We must mass-produce human minds.

SINCE the mass-produced thought is presented in a brightly-colored package, whereas the thought of the average individual is likely to be pretty drab, there can be only one end to this unequal competition. The genuine article is driven out of commerce by the synthetic through a kind of intellectual Gresham's Law.

And no wonder, then, that a man who stumbles on an original idea hesitates to offer it in the market place to his friends for it cannot hope to match the day's headline, or the well-rehearsed comedy of the radio or the latest Hollywood patter.

IT IS a commonplace to say that North Americans, only a generation or two from the frontier and the log cabin, now live in houses which they could not build, are carried across the land in machines which they do ot understand and, a hundred times a day, press buttons to produce mechanical results entirely beyond their comprehension.

These physical changes may have something to commend them. An automatically-heated house, I suppose, is better in some ways than a shack with a red-hot drum stove, though I notice at this time of year that a large part of the population begins to flee from such habitations and seeks a week-end cabin in the woods, with infinite labor, inconvenience and happiness. But the mental change which has gone with the physical is perhaps the largest and most alarming fact of our time, quite forgotten in the rush and in the endless stream of sound which passes for communication.

THIS mental change (of which the decay of conversation is only one evidence) represents a new thing in America, the mass-man. There had been plenty of mass-men before America was discovered. Most of the ancient civilizations, I suppose, were made up of mass-men, the mass-men of the Russian revolution being the products of a deep counter-revolution, a reversion to the past, a retreat into the womb of history by those afraid of life in the sunshine.

North American civilization, however, was essentially a revolt against the mass idea, it was the revolution of the individual, a break into the open. Now observe the circular paradox: By this outburst of individualism, by the inventive genius of the emancipated man, all the tools of modern communication were produced and now they launch their counter-revolution and possess, imprison and dictate to the men who made them.

WITHIN a mere half-century individual man, not by conquest, not by the scheming of a Kremlin, but by his own volition, by his own laziness, leaps back hundreds of years and becomes a mass-man. This may be a temporary retreat. The nervous pendulum of America may swing back. In all the monotonous, parrot sound which fills the air of this era one listens for a human voice attached to a human mind. Within the jungle of machinery one looks longingly for the awkward, stumbling shape of a man.

FIDDLING

WHAT'S WRONG WITH B.C.

Some months ago Bruce Hutchison wrote an article entitled "The Trouble With You Yanks Is . . ." This article was well and diplomatically handled. He might have made it stronger, but then says it would not have done.

I would like to say, if I may be permitted, what I think is wrong with B.C. or perhaps Canada.

In the first place, I consider that everything is overdone, which is unnecessary, viz., liquor control, hospital insurance, unions, combines and monopolies, and foods.

Liquor control: The public should be permitted to have the privilege of having liquor, at reasonable prices, with meals should they so desire, in reputable restaurants and hotels—not much to ask surely. Also the watering down of spirits should cease.

Hospital insurance: The opinion of the public should be considered.

Regarding unions, monopolies and combines: The system of unions is considerably overdone and should be revised.

Monopolies and combines should be entirely eliminated, the only way to obtain efficiency is by fair competition.

Regarding foods in Canada, adulteration, viz., addition of chemicals should cease.

Regarding certain taxes, let us hope that the millions accrued therefrom are used for armaments. The only way to prevent war is to arm and arm heavily and quickly—victory comes to the swift and the public must put up with a certain amount of sacrifice to accomplish this.

KEEPING THE LAW

The police seem to be sticklers for enforcing the law especially where Alderman Robert MacMillan is concerned. Presumably it is just their usual scrupulous efficiency, although it seems strange that a bootlegger with two built-in bars could operate in a downtown hotel for several years escaping their careful scrutiny, while a pinball machine which payed off a nickel and a U-drive car without a governor did not go long undetected.

Civic workers, I read, were told that the Vancouver wage scale had nothing to do with them. A Victoria alderman, on the other hand, believes that the wage scale for aldermen in Vancouver is quite suitable for aldermen in Victoria.

The two preceding unrelated bits of factasia have opened my mind to considerable speculation. Hope your paper or some of your readers can clear this up for me.

PROTEST FROM NAVY

As editor of our ship's newspaper, the Athabulletin I have been asked by the ship's company to let you know how we feel about the B.C. Hospitalization Plan.

As members of the R.C.N. we are told that we are exempt from this plan. However, if married we must pay the same rate as a married civilian. About the only thing we are exempt is a bed in the Jubilee. Granted, we have our own facilities for medical care, but why then must we pay the same rate as a civilian? I don't mind paying for my wife and kiddies, but there should definitely be a reduction in rate for a serviceman whose pay takes into consideration his medical expenses.

I have just read where the Minister of Health has refused public auditing of his books. This means only one thing to me. If B.C. has to have a hospitalization plan, let's have the cards dealt from the top of the deck where I can see.

I am writing this letter giving my own opinion, which is the same as all other married men aboard his ship, so that the people back home will realize what a beating we are taking on this deal. I think something should and could be done about this hospitalization hoax we have had forced upon us.

Ups And Downs

"THERE'S nothing much new," said the Elevator Man, "in jumping our clocks around. We're doing it all the time, in one way or another. I'll bet half the town keeps its watches and clocks a few minutes fast so there'll be a little leeway in catching buses. We figure that way we're gaining a few minutes or seconds, but we're only kidding ourselves. Time lurches on despite us. It's like a train that runs on its own schedule, no matter what figures we stick up on the timetable. The hours move right along no matter what we name them. Agreeing to call 1 o'clock 2 o'clock, or 8 o'clock 9 o'clock, doesn't change them in the least. Most of us forget there was time long before we started measuring it. It ran on for quite a while without any dials to record it. We came in pretty late on the scene with our time meters, and at the present rate of civilization it wouldn't surprise me if we left kind of early. Going up!

Tobin

"It's typical of us," said the Elevator Man, "that after the first day or so we won't give the thing a thought. Once the change is made, and we start calling the hours by wrong names, everything goes on as usual. And that doesn't only apply to time. You take a thing like despotism, for instance. Suddenly, under government orders, they start calling it democracy. After a little shuffling, the people go along thinking that what they've got really is democracy. After a while they don't know any better. There's more than one way of putting the clock back. Lower main!

"As far as daylight saving goes," said the Elevator Man, "we make the change so quick I guess we never notice it. We're like that young couple driving in the car. 'Is this the speedometer?' asked the girl, pointing. 'Yes, dear,' says the fella. 'And that's the clutch?' 'Yes, that's the clutch.' 'Then what's this?' she demanded, giving the accelerator a jab with her foot as a truck loomed ahead. 'This, dear,' he said in a soft celestial voice, 'is Heaven.' And picking up a golden harp he flew gently away."

Who and What are the Taxpayers?

CANADA this year will collect the largest total tax revenue in its history. A round sum of $3½ billions will be required for the armament program and the mounting civilian needs, including social welfare—of the population. Each family in the Dominion will feel the weight of heavier taxation, either directly through levies on income or indirectly through sales taxes, excise taxes, customs duties and other hidden charges. But who will feel the weight most?

In a recent feature article The Financial Post analyses the situation arising from the new tax levies and comes up with some interesting calculations.

In the income tax field, corporations will pay $1 billion—more than one-quarter of the total national receipts. And it is significant to note that in this class, the "big companies"—those with gross incomes over $500,000 a year—will carry 65 per cent of the corporation tax load.

HALF THE REVENUE.

In the personal brackets, citizens with incomes over $10,000 a year will pay $280 millions, which is one-third of the revenue expected from this type of levy. Those with incomes below $3,000 will carry 25 per cent of the load, and earners in the $3,000-$5,000 category will pay a like amount. Thus half the country's income tax revenue is provided by Canadians earning less than $5,000, although they far out-number those who supply the remaining half. The Government hopes to gather in some $870 millions from these sources.

It is in the sales and excise tax field that the incidence becomes less predictable. With $600 millions expected from sales levies, $572 millions from excise taxes and duties and another $315 millions from customs duties, it becomes obvious that the consumers of Canada are going to carry a sizeable burden. How will this be divided among them?

At once, car owners, liquor drinkers and tobacco smokers emerge as key figures in the national economy. No less than $600 millions will be contributed by these classes to the Canadian treasury, to say nothing of additional contributions to provincial and municipal coffers.

TAX ON CARS

The 25 per cent excise tax on passenger cars, for instance, will produce $70 millions, while the 10 per cent sales tax on gasoline is expected to raise $50 millions. A similar 10 per cent sales tax on cars, trucks and tires will provide $40 millions and the excise tax on tires and tubes another $8 millions.

That is quite a burden on owners and drivers of vehicles. But pedestrians will share their concern. Excise taxes on liquor and beer will total $130 millions, and sales taxes another $30 millions. Cigaret smokers will hand over $200 millions in excise taxes, pipe smokers $37 millions, and the 10 per cent sales tax on all tobaccos will reach $30 millions.

Incidence of the increased sales tax provides some interesting sidelights, The Financial Post points out. While Finance Minister Abbott has said that "two-thirds of the average Canadian family's total spending is not touched by the sales tax"—(he calculates, for instance, that only one-quarter of the pay cheque of lower income bracket families is spent on taxable goods)—the fact remains that few purchases can be made without encountering this hidden levy.

SOME ARE EXEMPT

The 10 per cent sales tax is expected to produce at least $600 millions of revenue this year, despite the fact that 95 per cent of all foods, building materials and fuels are exempt. About 20 per cent of this sum, or $120 millions, will come from clothing and shoes. Household appliances and furnishings will provide some $45 millions, while toilet articles, stationery, hardware and such consumer goods will account for $65 millions.

It will be a very restricted consumer indeed who will not feel more than inflation in the rising prices. The growing volume of national needs leaves little chance for exemption of any person or commodity from the task of furnishing revenue. "Soak the rich" means nothing as an economic policy, for were they taxed 100 per cent, there are not enough of them to pay for more than a fraction of the services and supplies, the weapons and welfare, which we as a people demand.

Rhodes Scholars

FROM OXFORD comes news of particular interest to many in the Commonwealth — the appointment as Warden of Rhodes House, Oxford, of E. T. Williams, formerly Viscount Montgomery's chief intelligence officer in North Africa, Sicily and Italy, and in charge of 21st Army Group Intelligence until the end of the war. Rhodes House is a centre for all who are interested in the Commonwealth and its people—but particularly for Rhodes scholars, of whom there are at the moment 90 from the Commonwealth at the University.

These scholars who come to study in Britain under a trust set up by Cecil Rhodes, exert an influence both at the University and in later life out of all proportion to their numbers. They have always been good athletes, over 400 out of a total of less than 3,000 having represented Oxford against Cambridge in various sports; 20 former Rhodes scholars are presidents of colleges or universities, and 20 are judges, while during the last year the new Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of South Africa and the Chief Justice of Southern Rhodesia have been appointed from among Rhodes scholars. One Canadian archbishop was a Rhodes scholar and there are a number of Rhodes scholars in the Canadian Department of External Affairs.

APPEARANCE DECEPTIVE

DETROIT (AP) — Kindly policewomen and officers were much taken with the chubby-cheeked little boy who'd been found splashing in a mud puddle Sunday.

Nine hours after the 2½-year-old youngster was taken to a police station, his frantic mother, Mrs. Patricia Carmack, 19, claimed the boy.

Officers were glad to hand Mickey back. They found out Mickey's fat cheeks were caused by mumps.

Christian Democrat Victory Seen As Vindication Of Schuman Plan

FRANKFURT (UP) — Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's Christian Democrats today hailed their Rhineland election victory as a vote of confidence in the Schuman Plan.

Official results in the Rhineland palatinate state election showed the Christian Democrats won 43 seats to 38 for the Socialists Sunday in the first ballot box test of the Schuman Plan since it was initialed by Adenauer and five European Foreign Ministers in Paris early this month.

The historic program to pool Western Europe's steel and coal resources became the pivotal issue in the campaign. Social Democratic leader Kurt Schumacher opposed it as vehemently as he did Adenauer's rearmament program in the hope of continuing the recent upsurge in Socialist votes.

The Socialists did gain four seats in the 100-member parliament of the wine-growing, predominantly Catholic state, but failed in their bid to seize control.

In the popular vote, the Christian Democrats polled 564,393 to 488,391 for the Socialists.

The Free Democrats, a party advocating a free economy and liberal foreign trade regulations, made the largest gains. It pulled 240,087 votes to increase its representation from 11 to 19 seats.

Communist Party representation was wiped out by a new West German electoral law requiring a party to poll at least 5 per cent of the total vote to be entitled to an assembly seat.

NOT COMPULSORY

That Old Timepiece Can Remain Hour Slow

Hundreds of British Columbians went through the ritual of setting their clocks ahead by one hour all because of a provincial order-in-council stipulating the province shall operate on daylight-saving time from April 29 to Sept. 30.

Most citizens changed their clocks before retiring Saturday night; others waited until Sunday morning.

There is nothing compulsory about daylight saving. The cabinet's decision to change to daylight time could be, in a strict sense, taken to be solely government business.

Nothing in the regulations compels private citizens to change their clocks.

For farmers and others who dislike daylight saving, the government regulations leave the fullest freedom. What's more, these individuals will get full support from the C.P.R.

The railway company's clock on the Belleville Street wharf is still on standard time and it's going to remain that way.

The big timepiece stands out in open defiance in full view of the government offices.

Heavy Program For Oak Bay Play Fields

Oak Bay playgrounds at Willows Beach, Windsor and Lafayette Parks will open July 3 and will carry on a four-week program, it was announced at the annual meeting of the Oak Bay Playground Committee.

Oak Bay Council has appropriated $800 for the playground committee, it was announced by Councillor Fred Norris, and Dr. Roy A. Johnson offered donations from Oak Bay Kiwanis Club toward playground picnics. Expenses last summer were $1,194.

The committee will consider augmenting last year's program with hardball and square dancing.

Officers elected for 1951 were Eric Greville-Jones, chairman; Mrs. Margaret Grant, secretary, and D. W. Simmons, treasurer.

Has Car Impounded

Car owned by Michael D'Arcy Lee, Quarantine Station, William Head, was impounded by city police when the owner could produce no proof of financial responsibility following a 3.30 Sunday morning collision at Fort and Cook. Police said a car driven by Felix Browning, Mac's Auto Court, was in collision with the rear of the Lee vehicle, coming to a halt at the stop sign.

Charge Russia Seeks To Rule All Germany

WASHINGTON (UP) — The State Department warned today that Russia is attempting to wrest control of all Germany, and the side that wins "may well control Europe and the fate of civilization."

In a 107-page booklet that amounted to a "white paper" on Germany, the department said Russia is using every trick — "propaganda, threats, pressure and sabotage" to seize control.

"If the Soviets could control and organize Western Germany as a satellite," the department said, "they would have a productive power so formidable as to make our position critical."

It said that Russia now controls the bulk of Europe-Asia continent which has unlimited masses of manpower, but Russia's industrial power is weak.

"Adding Germany would balance the Soviet strength and bring the Soviet dream of world conquest to a sure gamble," the department added.

Big Increase In Labor Disputes

Labor disputes in B.C. were double last year what they were in 1949, annual report of the Labor Relations Board disclosed.

In 1950 there were 22 reported disputes. In 1949, there were only 11. In 1950, 105,792 man days were lost because of strikes. Walkout last autumn by shipyard workers accounted for the biggest share.

Narrow Escape From Bed Fire

Only a miracle saved Vernon Milsted, 2808 Rockwell Avenue, from suffocation early Sunday when his bed caught fire, Saanich firemen said today.

Milsted awoke to find the room filled with smoke and his hair afire and gave the alarm. The blaze damaged his bed, some furniture and flooring. A discarded cigaret caused the fire, according to firemen.

HOME GARDEN

by Hilda Beastall

With time, many gardening jobs become practically automatic, and we almost forget the season for doing them.

Thus it is with transplanting. When one has raised annual flowers and vegetables from seed for a few years, one either acquires a knack of handling them rapidly and successfully, or one struggles along never knowing how many of the seedlings will "take."

Hilda

A little thought about the life and requirements of plants will help in the forming of a routine.

One of the first needs of the little plants is moisture. When we transplant to the open garden, they should suffer as little set-back as possible. Providing they have been properly hardened off in a cold frame, the slight temperature change will not affect them, but lack of moiture will.

"In this dry weather, shall I puddle them in?" asked a neighbor. In this district, our soil is a heavy clay loam. By cultivation, the top two inches of soil soon becomes dry little lumps. I feel that making a hole in this, filling it with water, and putting the plant into it, is not the best method. The hole becomes an airtight pocket of clay, which the rootlets find impossible to penetrate. Wilting is then inevitable.

Instead, I prefer to use two inches of composted material spread exactly on the area to be planted, and transplant into it, leaving a slight depression by each plant. Afterwards, water is gently applied which will gradually percolate through the compost to the fine roots.

It helps greatly to have the soil of the seedling box moist enough to cut into small squares for transplanting, as there seems to be less shock by this method. Also the moisture in the original soil will suffice for a day or two, until the surrounding soil becomes uniformly moist, and thus prevent wilting.

NEW VICTORIANS

by Gwen Cash

Fred Craig and his wife, Willa were born far from salt water. Fred in Winnipeg, Willa in Moose Jaw.

They came to Victoria to raise mink and make a home at 4205 Douglas Street. With them is their son Arthur, aged nine. Six weeks ago an air taxi flew in drugs to one of the least accessible of B.C.'s waterways to save Willa's life. "She was so ill," said Fred, "we couldn't fly her out."

For two years the Craigs lived alongside Skookum Chuck in Sechelt Inlet, a turbulent whirlpool feared by Indians and made famous by the late Stewart Edward White in his book "Skookum Chuck."

"There isn't a chance on earth of finding a body lost in the chuck," Willa told me. "A lot of people, even fishermen, have been lost there. She billows and boils. Shoots 16 feet of white water into the air. You can feel her rips two miles from centre. Hear their dreadful suction—even when you stand on shore. She's dotted with small islands, too. The tides split on them and make the whirlpools still more dangerous."

CHILDREN CROSS CHUCK

Yet it was across the chuck, Willa took and fetched 13 small children to and from school each day. It took two hours and she had to make ten portages.

"Sometimes Willa had to wade through three feet of snow before she reached the boat," her husband told me proudly. "Sometimes the lookout windows iced up so badly, she had to lean outside and risk her nose being frozen so that she could see to make harbor. Yet even when we heard over the radio that the schools elsewhere were closed for bad weather she got Arthur and his classmates through. They never missed a day at school."

The Craigs enjoyed life in the wilds. Now they look forward to making a success of mink farming.

Menzies Coalition May Get Majority In Senate

Late Australian Election Returns Show Pick Up In Strength For Right Wing Party

SYDNEY (CP)—The victorious Coalition Government of Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies picked up strength today in the Parliamentary election vote counting. There was a possibility it might win a two-seat majority in the Senate.

Latest returns from Saturday's balloting assured the Liberal-Country Party coalition of at least 66 seats in the House of Representatives and reduced the number that the opposition Labor Party seemed certain to win from 52 to 48.

Latest standing in the House figures for the old Parliament in parenthesis.

Government coalition	66	(74)
Labor	48	(47)
Doubtful	7	—
Total	121	(121)

MORE IN DOUBT

Sunday's counting, reflecting a drift from Labor, increased the number of doubtful seats from three to seven in the 121-member House, from which the Government is formed. The Government held a 74-47 majority in the outgoing House.

In the 60-seat Senate, where the early trend had pointed to a 30-30 split, late returns gave the Government a good chance for a 31-29 edge. A previous Labor majority in the Upper House had caused the Government to demand the election on grounds the Senate was blocking enactment of its program.

Communists failed to win a seat in either House.

The returns put the Coalition in position to take six of the 10 Senate seats from the State of Queensland and left in doubt the division of the 10 in Victoria. The 10 seats from each of Australia's other four states appeared likely to divide evenly.

ISSUE DELAYED

The counting of Senate votes under a proportional representation system may delay the final outcome several weeks.

Under the system, a party or Coalition needs 56.56 per cent of the votes to capture six seats from a state. In Queensland the Government held 55 per cent of the votes counted so far. In Victoria, Labor held only 52.11 per cent.

Latest returns placed Deputy Opposition Leader Herbert V. Evatt, former United Nations President, in more danger of losing his seat in the House of Representatives.

Malay Town Gets Warning

SINGAPORE (AP) — British authorities have handed a final warning to the inhabitants of "the worst town in Malaya" to stop helping Communists or face the consequences.

They didn't specify what the consequences would be but hinted the citizens might find their town pulled down around their ears.

The 3,000 residents of Pusing, in Perak State, were called into the main square Saturday and told by the British district officer there must be no more incidents of violence.

The warning came after Communist guerrillas cut the perimeter wire fence of the town and ambushed three Malay special constables. One constable was slain.

Views Of Sport

By RED SMITH

NEW YORK—There is a fist fighter around today named Ike Williams who is lightweight champion of the world and a good fighter, one of the best. He can box and punch and there is nobody, not even Sugar Robinson, more accomplished at reading the first signs that an opponent is in trouble and at catching the guy and finishing him.

Smith

For all his gifts, Williams is neither the busiest nor the most bellicose lightweight champion that ever lived. His attitude toward the rule requiring champions to defend their titles every six months is one of tolerant detachment. When he signed recently for a title fight with James J. Carter on May 11 in Madison Square Garden it was the first time he committed his championship since Dec. 5, 1949, when he mauled an inoffensive character named Freddie Dawson in Philadelphia.

Last winter Ike, whose honors have been several, won a special distinction. The New York Boxing Writers—or maybe Nat Fleischer, which is practically the same thing—singled him out as the most peaceable champion in any division. He had earned the award by his manly refusal to enter the same building with any challenger in 1950.

Ike Is A Bigger Boy Now

It is probable that Ike has been motivated less by a repugnance of violence than by a reluctance to diet. Now in his twelth year of professional punching, he has reached a position in life where a man likes to settle back on his capital and mangle a pork chop when and as he pleases. Watching him operate as a full-grown welterweight a fortnight ago when he chewed up Fitzie Pruden for television, one could understand that the chore of shucking 10 pounds off his torso might prove exceedingly distasteful. In fact, one couldn't help wondering how he'd ever manage to get down to the lightweight limit.

By a happy coincidence, just about the time Williams was being chevvied into accepting a title match, there turned up in the mail a letter from Sammy Rubin, of the Bronx. It just happens to furnish material for comparisons, if anybody wishes to make them.

"The other day, April 18," Mr. Rubin writes, "made four years since the greatest champion the boxing world ever had passed away. Of course, I mean the immortal Benny Leonard, who died of a heart attack while refereeing a bout in the St. Nicholas Arena.

"What a champion! what a man!

Twice A Month—For The Title

"Let's just thumb through Nat Fleischer's record book a moment and pick out a comparatively small fraction of Leonard's amazing career. Let's begin with—well, May 28, 1917.

"Benny had celebrated his 21st birthday on April 7, 1917. Six weeks later he kayoed one of the greatest defensive boxers in the history of the ring—Freddy Welsh."

This was in a day when the title could not change hands on a decision in New York. In 1917 Leonard had been boxing for five years. Barring a foul, his only chance to win the championship was to stiffen a guy who was 10 years his senior, had 12 years of ring experience, and hadn't been stopped in 152 fights. The kid flattened Welsh in the ninth round.

"Now, let's see," Mr. Rubin continues. "In the next two and a half years—until Dec. 20, 1919—Benny engaged in 56 fights. Yes, 56 fights in two and a half years, all as champion, of course.

Ah Chung An Early Victim

"And who were a few of those 56? Oh, only fellows like Jack Britton, Johnny Kilbane, Willie Ritchie, Johnny Dundee, Ted Kid Lewis, all of whom either had been, or still were, or were soon to become world champions themselves.

"Benny fought them all, regardless of race or color. Why, in the space of one week—Sept 21-27, 1917—Leonard fought the two best Negro lightweights of the day, Leo Johnson and Eddie Dorsey. He flattened Johnson in one round and Dorsey in two. And Johnson had never even been floored in around 200 previous fights, except, three weeks earlier, when Leonard stopped him in the first.

"Talk about color lines, why, when Benny was 17 years old he kayoed Ah Chung, a Chinaman, in six rounds. And don't forget that even after he won the title and polished off everybody in sight, his greatest years were still to come. Benny was at his best after 1919.

"Yes, in any hall of fame of boxing, Benny Leonard belongs at the top."

UNITED IN FINALS OF PROVINCE CUP

Milligan Scores Two Goals In Victory Over Duncan; Esquimalt-Wests Replay Tuesday

Performing before the largest Sunday crowd of the season, Victoria United set down Duncan Native Sons, 3 to 0, in the Province Cup semifinals at Macdonald Park Sunday.

The Restell men demonstrated again the scoring punch which has given them a distinct edge over league teams in cup play. Duncan deserved a much better result on their performance, particularly in the first half.

Wallace Milligan showed the same form he has displayed throughout the series, figuring in all three United goals. He scored the first on a pass from Cedric Robb at the five-minute mark, with the wind against him. Twenty minutes later he fed Ab Travis, the ball for City's second marker.

Both goals came in the face of field play by Duncan which would have given the up-islanders at least an even break had they been able to beat Joe Travis.

In the second half it was Milligan again, finishing off the scoring at the 26-minute mark.

United will meet the winners of the Wests-Esquimalt replay in the finals next Saturday.

It was a bruising struggle at lower Beacon Hill Saturday in which Wests and Esquimalt fought to their 1 to 1 tie, Wests' Norm Richards being the hero of the fray when he saved on a penalty shot from Ed Young in the first of two overtime periods.

Minus three of their regulars, Bernie Clarkson, Len Scott and Ron Bland, Wests were forced to come from behind to secure the draw.

With the wind at their backs, Esquimalt took the lead five minutes before the intermission. Andy Anderson got credit for the goal when Bill Hope in attempting to stop the shot, saw the ball deflect into the twine.

With the switchover, Wests took the initiative and Manager Doug Gent provided the equalizer halfway through the session following a free kick by Jim Burdge.

Esquimalt's overtime penalty try came when Nip Sage was hauled down in front of the goal.

Esquimalt's Ken Druce and Wests' Bill Turner were banished for fighting in the second half.

The game will be replayed at Macdonald Park Tuesday night at 6.

Legion Bowlers Receive Prizes

Members of the Canadian Legion Fivepin Bowling League wound up the season with a banquet and prize-giving at Terry's Dining Room Saturday.

Harry Thompsett, donor of the trophy which bears his name, presented the championship cup to the Britannia branch team of Tommy Harris, George Davis, Pete Cairns, Morrin Waller, Johnny Moore and Tommy Cole.

Don Corbett won the high average prize, Lew White the high three for the season of 849, and Jim McKeachie the high single award with 342.

THIRD ACE OF YEAR

Alan Hockly scored the third hole in one of the season at Victoria Golf Club Saturday on the 125-yard eighth. He was playing with J. R. Murray, C. W. Walker and Dick Murray.

STANTON, England (AP)—Geoffrey Roberts, 29, won the English amateur golf championship Saturday, defeating Harry Bennett 1 up in 39 holes.

REFEREE CALLS GAME; TILLICUMS TO PROTEST

The bid of Tillicums soccer club for their fifth successive city championship came to a cropper yesterday when an altercation with referee Henry Tooby resulted in the game and the championship being awarded to Victoria Combines.

Trouble developed early in the game when Combines were awarded a penalty kick on a disputed call, and the kick resulted in the first goal. Hotly challenged on other decisions, Tooby warned the Tillicum players and finally, after repeated wrangles, called the game with the score 2 to 1 in favor of Combines.

Manager Alf Tripp, of Tillicums, gave immediate notice that he would file a protest with the league executive.

The Tillicum club, starting in the fifth division, have won their divisional championship each year. Six of the players are original members of the team which was organized five years ago.

Shamrock Line-Up Set For Wednesday

Victoria Shamrocks wound up their heavy pre-season training schedule Saturday morning with a two-hour workout in full pads. A light shooting practice Tuesday is the only exercise specified by coach Arnold Ferguson before the 'Rocks take on the North Shore Indians in the opening game here Wednesday night.

Only one doubtful position was listed in Ferguson's starting line-up, released today. Still unresolved is the battle for the rover duty being staged by Harry Irwin and Tommy Druce.

However, it appears certain that both will see action, one as rover and the other as utility man.

STARTING LINE-UP

Starters will be Bill Andrews in goal; Norm Coates and Red McMillan on defence; Darrell Popham, rover, and Ed Popham centring Art Green and Duff McCaghey on the forward line.

The other string will see Ferguson and Len Scott on defence; Tom Druce or Harry Irwin as rover, and Whitey Severson centring Archie Browning and Norm Baker up front.

The choice of forwards keeps intact the Popham-Green-McCaghey string which was effective last year, and combines three former Adanac stars in Severson, Browning and Baker.

SAMMARTINO RELEASED

The release of Rollie Sammartino, who will return to Vernon, is seen by railbirds as an indication of Shamrock strength. Sammartino decided to head back to the Okanagan when the 'Rocks could not assure him of first string action throughout the season.

On the reserve list, and probable starters in future games, are Bob Monaghan, Fred and Jimmy Ranson, and Gordie Ellis.

PROVINCIAL RUGBY CROWNS TO VANCOUVER

Bays, Wanderers Lose To Mainland

Three visitors from Vancouver, a half-dozen wives and girl friends of team members, and a corporal's guard of former rugger players watched Vancouver Vindex team take the Rounsefell Cup and the provincial rugby championship from J.B.A.A. Saturday afternoon.

Outclassed in every department, the island titlists held their own only briefly in the second half as Vindex galloped through for six tries and two conversions to blank the Victorians 22 to 0.

A fast, aggressive three-line, combined with poor marking by the Bays, combined to let Derek Vincent, Don Nesbit and Dave Storey through in the first half. Hilary Wotherspoon converted one of the tries against a stiff breeze, giving Vindex exactly half their points before the breather.

In the second stanza Bays held the Vancouver club successfully through the first 20 minutes and had an edge in territorial play, but a break for the goal line by Bob Blondheim caught the Victoria defence flatfooted and set the stage for another Vindex flurry.

Before the final whistle, Eric Cardinal and Ernie Norman had gone over, and Wotherspoon added another conversion.

MERALOMAS WIN

In a simultaneous game, played on the lower field, Vancouver Meralomas took the second division provincial title from Oak Bay Wanderers 6 to 3.

Meralomas had a much tougher battle than the senior team. Wanderers set up a strong defence which consistently took the play from the rugged mainland squad.

Offensively, the Victorians were unsure at times, and missed many good scoring opportunities.

Vancouver scored the only try, by Charlie Dubuque, in the first half. John Parker went over for the visitors in the second half, and John Shipley got the Oak Bay points when Victoria's drive finally clicked in the late stages. Both teams lost conversion points to the strong wind.

TIME OUT! By Jeff Keate

"Like I told you, Ed—the kid hasn't enough confidence yet to be a regular starting pitcher!"

City Rink Beaten In 'Spiel Final

Max Zabel's Victoria rink failed in its bid to capture championship honors in Nanaimo's fifth annual bonspiel which concluded Saturday.

The Victoria four bowed to ex-Mayor Jack Cornett's rink of Vancouver in the final of the Malaspina Trophy and Grand Aggregate competition, 11 to 4. Cornet in turn lost out to Earl Bennett's St. Helen's rink in the Grand Challenge event.

Zabel's rink included Bill Gray, skip; Zabel, third; Art Williamson, second, and 82-year-old W. J. Hyde, lead. A victory in the finals would have given this rink both the Grand Aggregate and Malaspina trophies.

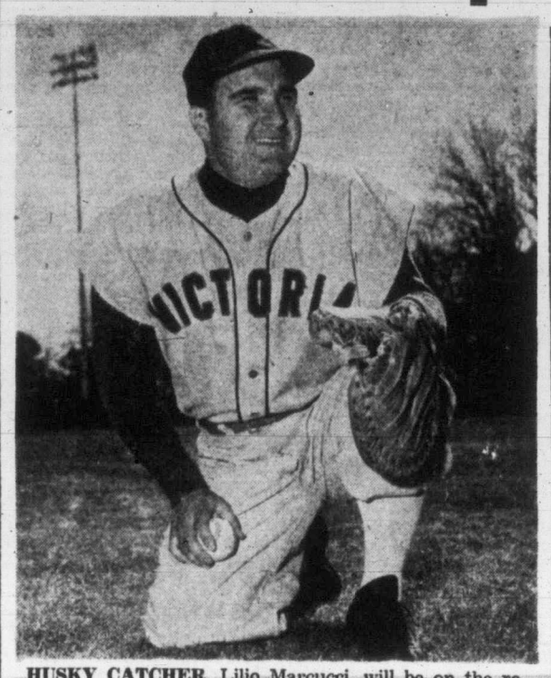

TO JOIN A'S

Lozaba joined Portland Saturday and will remain with the Pacific Coast League club during their series with Seattle Rainiers this week.

A's Ready To Hit Stride In Home Opener Tonight

HUSKY CATCHER, Lilio Marcucci, will be on the receiving end of Ron Smith's right-handed slants tonight at Athletic Park at 8 when the A's open the home season against Spokane Indians. A long-ball hitter, Marcucci has been carrying the burden behind the plate for the club so far this season.

Ron Smith Will Pitch; May See Capacity Crowd

Victoria Athletics open their W.I.L. home season tonight with their best foot forward, and all indications point to a capacity crowd ready to cheer them to a first-game victory over Spokane.

The "best foot" in this instance will be Ron Smith, who gave the As' their first win of the fledgling season in Spokane. Manager Dick Barrett has assigned Smith to the mound and the spotlight with instructions to "do it again."

Smith has two victories and no defeats.

But Barrett isn't relying altogether on his fair-haired hurler. He feels certain that his batting order will come to life in a big way tonight under the urging of a home-town crowd.

The game is set for 8, with a galaxy of notable visitors on hand to do opening day honors.

ARRIVED THIS MORNING

The A's arrived in town this morning after cutting short their second game with Tri-City yesterday. Tied 3 to 3 at the end of the seventh inning, the game was called to allow the Barrett men to catch their boat. It will be concluded on the next trip around.

Barrett was happy at the news that ticket sales had been going well and there is a possibility that tonight's stands will groan under a larger crowd than the 4,246 which saw the opener at Salem, the league high to date.

Victoria's first game at Tri-City yesterday went to the American nine 8 to 5, with the loss charged to Tierney, who relieved Propst and then yielded to Bill Paine. The Braves broke up the game by scoring seven runs in the sixth inning to erase a 5 to 1 deficit.

Spokane made a clean sweep of a four-game series with Wenatchee yesterday, taking both ends of a double bill 9 to 7 and 7 to 4, while Tacoma battered Salem 17 to 5 and 8 to 3.

Pitcher John Conant received credit for Spokane's victory in the wild nine-inning nightcap, despite yielding 17 hits.

Spokane's eight hits were good for seven runs.

Tacoma collected 18 hits off four Salem pitchers in the first game. The second game was tied at the end of the sixth at one-all, but Tacoma collected seven more runs which carried the team to a one-sided win.

Bill Schuster's Vancouver Capilanos make their debut at home tonight after a triumphant Sunday. They clubbed the defending champions Yakima Bears twice, 6 to 4 and 4 to 2 for a record of eight wins in nine starts.

Fleming, McLeod Gain Open Final

Twenty-year-old Bob Fleming and another youngster not long out of his teens, Ron McLeod, will meet in the finals of the Vancouver Island Match Play Open golf tournament at Colwood Golf Club next Sunday.

Proving that youth must be served this pair won their way into the 36-hole final round by turning back two established veterans in yesterday's 36-hole semifinals at Victoria Club.

Fleming, the lad who went to the 38th hole in last year's B.C. Amateur before bowing to Victoria's Jim Squire, edged Gorge Vale professional, Joe Pryke, while McLeod trimmed Colwood's Ted Colgate, 6 and 5.

One of the outstanding golfers in the city, Fleming was given a stiff battle by his tutor and it wasn't until the afternoon round that he established the margin that was to hold him in good stead.

All square at the end of the morning round, Fleming went four up by the 29th and though Prkye cut into this lead, the cool, deliberate Gorge Vale shotmaker was still the master when the match ended on the 35th green.

Victory was a personal triumph for Fleming, who had been beaten out of the B.C. Amateur on this same course and in last year's match play semis had been eliminated by champion Eric Hibberson. Only last week Fleming took the measure of another of the city's leading divoters, Vic Painter, in the quarter finals.

McLeod, former city junior champion and now assistant to professional Phil Taylor at the Oak Bay club, had an easier road into the finals.

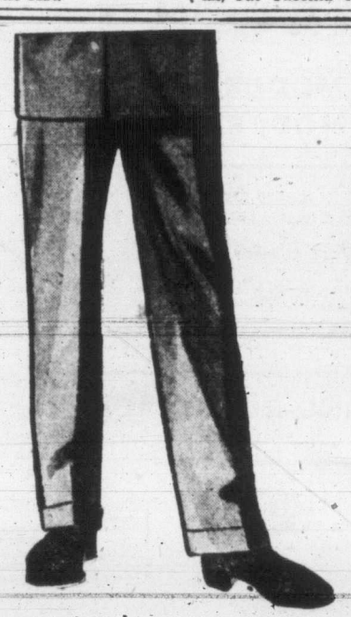

Playing over his home course, McLeod showed a better understanding of the gusty breeze that made good scoring difficult in defeating his veteran opponent.

Colgate managed to stay within striking distance through the morning round, being only two down at the lunch interval. However, McLeod took command in the afternoon round and shooting near-par golf closed out the match at the 31st.

Giants Run Losing Streak To 11 Games

It is no longer a question of where the Giants will finish. The flabbergasted fans now are asking—will they finish?

Thunderstruck by the New Yorkers' 11th straight defeat, a 6 to 3 loss to Brooklyn Dodgers yesterday, the fans are wondering what manager Leo Durocher's next move might be. The frantic pilot has tried everything to snap the losing skein.

The club, picked by a majority of experts opening day to win the National League pennant, is wallowing in the basement 7½ games off the pace.

The victory put the Brooks into a three-way tie for first place with Boston and St. Louis.

The Braves divided a doubleheader with Philadelphia. They won the opener 1 to 0 although held to two hits by Jocko Thompson. The Phils overcame a six-run first inning by Boston to win the second 10 to 9.

Harry Brecheen held the Cubs to six hits in Chicago to win his second game for the Cardinals 6 to 3.

TRIBE SURPRISED

The Browns stunned Cleveland Indians by sweeping both ends of their doubleheader in St. Louis 6 to 3 and 13 to 11 to drop the tribe into a first-place American tie with Washington.

The Senators backed into their share of the lead, accepting a 4 to 0 licking by the Yankees in New York.

Students, Gasmen Take Softball Season Openers

The Senior A Men's Softball League opened its four-month season yesterday afternoon at Central Park with four teams in the five-team league seeing action.

In the first game, Gar Taylor's Chinese Students had little trouble with a listless Bluebird Cabs team and punched out 12 hits to win going away 12 to 1, behind the four-hit hurling of Eddie Fong.

The second half of the double bill was called in the first half of the sixth inning due to a cloudburst with the Pitzer & Nex nine on top 5 to 0 over Wally Smith's young Forest Products aggregation. Weather conditions made it impossible to continue.

The usual opening ceremonies preceded the first pitch with Aldermen Frank, Mulliner and Bill Pinfold representing the City and Cliff Bate attending on behalf of the Parks Department.

COLLIER WILD

Manager Lloyd Jones of the Cabbies paraded a newcomer to the mound in the person of Bud Collier, and although the wrong-hander showed a good variety of pitches, lack of support behind him proved his downfall, and he went out after four innings. He gave up only four hits, but coupled with five walks they were enough for five runs and he was charged with the loss.

Eddie Fong went the route for the winners and the only solid hit he gave up in the first four innings was a sinking liner that Ray Brookbank hit into his off-field. Brookbank scored on an infield out for the Cabbies' only run.

Jimmy Morrison, a transfer from last year's Douglas Tire squad, homered in the ninth for the Students. The only other extra base knock came in the fourth when Tommy Derr tripled to deep left.

A new entry in the league this year, Pitzer and Nex fielded a team formed with a nucleus of last year's Douglas Tire plus three valuable additions.

Bernie Clarkson, late of the Athletics; Red Wiebe of hockey fame, and a star of former years in the senior A circuit, Ray Byers, were in starting roles. Byers was out last year due to a serious operation.

Timbermen had a case of jitters in the first inning and the Gasmen chased in three runs with the help of two bases on balls given up by Barry Jackson. Clarkson lined out a double to drive in one run, and Byers singled to send in Toad Garnet. Clarkson scored on the error at centre.

Garnet worked Jackson for a walk in the third, went to third on a single by Dick Williams and completed the circuit when Roy Logie had trouble controling the wet ball and over threw at second in trying to catch Williams.

Wiebe scored the final run of the game in the fourth when his long smash got between the fielders and rolled a country mile.

Tonight at 6.30, Butler Bros. Brentwood Aces will make their debut against Bluebirds.

Big Dixie Harper will do the hurling, brother Lorne will be at second base, Earl Robinson, another newcomer, at shortstop, and George Barnes will be back at his usual centrefield position in line-up changes for the cabbies.

Short scores follow:

Chinese Students	12	12	1
Bluebird Cabs	1	4	8

Fong and G. Chow; Collier, Aspinall (5) and Harris.

B.C. Forest Products	0	2	1

Your Doctor For a Friend

When we're really sick, we're scared and lonely—feel that we've a right to more than the professional services of our doctor. Most doctors agree—but it takes two to make friends.

In May Reader's Digest, noted authority Paul de Kruif shows how we can help our doctors and gives five simple tests to help you tell if your doctor is your friend.

Mrs. C. C. Fraser, 140 Lester Avenue, Moncton, N.B., suffered for two years with arthritic pain in her right foot. Although Mrs. Fraser tried many things to get relief her experience was like so many others—no luck.

Mrs. Fraser heard about SARNAK and bought a bottle. Now here is what she says: "I feel very grateful for what SARNAK has done for me. I had been in great pain for two years with arthritic pain in my right foot, so bad at times I could hardly walk on it. I saw an advertisement for SARNAK and started taking it. The first bottle brought me relief, the second bottle relieved the pain so much I was able to walk on the foot without it hurting. I highly recommend SARNAK to any one suffering as I was."

TRY SARNAK THIS SPRING

After a long winter resistance is often low and you have a feeling of general tiredness, lack of energy and vitality. When you feel this way old troublesome symptoms often cause suffering. SARNAK is so effective for aches and pains and general run-down condition that you usually get results within the first few days.

Make up your mind to give SARNAK a chance to help you this spring as it has helped thousands of others who had gone on day after day suffering. Thousands of bottles of SARNAK are sold every day in Canada. Remember, there are no substitutes for SARNAK. Always insist on the genuine SARNAK. In some rural sections where there are few drug stores, SARNAK may be difficult to obtain. Don't pay anyone more than $1.35 a bottle. Order by mail from your druggist or mail order house, to assure yourself not paying grey market prices. If one druggist does not have SARNAK, try another.

TENNIS SCHOOL OPENS TONIGHT—RAIN OR SHINE

Rain or shine, the Times Tennis School will get under way at 6 tonight.

Instructor Jack Milledge said today that wet weather will not prove a serious handicap to training the crowd of youngsters he expects to show up at the Victoria Lawn Tennis Club. The badminton hall will be available, and it is planned to hold the first session in the big building in any case.

"Our first session," Milledge said, "will be mostly lecture. I hope to get most of the talking done in one period."

Boys and girls attending tonight's initial lesson are asked to go directly to the badminton hall. They will need tennis shoes or sneakers, a racket, an application form properly completed, and their 25c registration fee.

The class will be two hours, from 6 to 8. Classes will also be held Wednesday and Friday.

Canadians Steal Show

British Empire Games mile champion Bill Parnell Saturday paced the Washington State Cougars track team to a new two-mile relay record at the Drake Relays at Des Moines, Iowa.

Parnell anchored the four-man squad which established a new mark of 7:38.6. The former mark was 7:41.8 set in 1941.

Parnell also was instrumental in giving the Cougars second place in the four-mile event Friday as he nipped another Canadian, Michigan's Don McEwen, in the final 100 yards.

Michigan State won the event in the record breaking time of 17:21.2. Parnell trailed the Spartan's anchor man by five yards.

Outstanding performer, however, was yet another Canadian, Jim Lavery of Calgary. Lavery anchored Drake in victories in the 440, 880 and mile events.

VICTORIAN SPRING

by Cecil Maiden

LXXII

The theatre was filling rapidly. So much interest had been shown in the Capital—an interest fanned by the parents of those children appearing in the display—that there had been quite a big crowd waiting when the doors opened at 7 o'clock, an hour before the performance was due to begin.

The "pit" seats, selling at half a crown, were full by 7.15, and the five-shilling unreserved orchestra chairs five minutes later. Even before the reserved seats themselves, at seven shillings and sixpence, began to fill, it was obvious that Victoria was treating the night as a gala occasion.

The transient miners, who appeared to be coming into all parts of the house, looked as though they had given themselves an extra brush and polish for the affair. And that extra polish was everywhere. There were bright faces, as well as bright colors, all over the theatre, and presently the Dress Circle began to do justice to its name—with many an elaborate new dress for the event, an ample evidence that family chests and cabinets had been drawn upon for valued family jewels.

There was movement, laughter, and an increasing flutter of excited gossip. Men in naval and military dress, uniforms escorted some of the loveliest girls in the Capital to their seats. Sober-suited members of the Legislature ushered in their wives and families. And through the thickest part of the crowd the members of the orchestra finally threaded their way.

There was a rustle of paper as the night's music was opened, sorted, and spread out on the music stands. A note was given and repeated. The fiddles were tuned. And there followed a whispered confusion of subdued scales and notes on clarinet and harp, and a single shrill note on a piccolo. Then the conductor walked in—a tall, thin man with a full head of hair and a well-trimmed beard.

The murmur of gossip faltered as the audience watched him, pausing to give him a somewhat preoccupied burst of applause. He picked up his baton, and the orchestra broke into a brilliant Prelude de Ballet, as befitted the occasion.

Almost as if they had been awaiting the orchestral music as an entrance cue, there appeared in the upper box—directly over the viceregal box itself—Mr. and Mrs. Murray, followed by Caroline.

Friends in the Dress Circle nodded and bowed. A few in the main body of the theatre downstairs also noticed their arrival and smiled a recognition. Mrs Murray, quite visibly enjoying the effect of her own entrance, was a'flutter in brown silk pleats and ruchings, with a froth of cream Maltese lace adorning the decol tee splendor of her gown. She was displaying a collection of earrings, bracelets and pendants that must have broken even her own record for these things.

Mrs. Murray, however, was little noticed in the murmur of inevitable interest aroused by the sight of Caroline. For Caroline had come in white and gold . . . in a gleaming crinoline of gold-embroidered ivory silk, with a golden shawl and a wreath of yellow rosebuds in her hair which seemed, in some subtle way, to bring to its blackness a new and magic lustre of dark green and brown.

Caroline, knowing well that many eyes were upon her, rested her long-gloved hands on the edge of the box, and relaxed in her chair with complete assurance, confident that though many might envy, few could imitate.

She looked among the shifting crowd below her, turning her chin delicately from side to side as she did so. Then suddenly she found the object of her search, and her face became completely still.

Jervis was sitting with his two friends, Twining and Roper, on the front row, nearest the orchestra and on the far side, by the steps that led from the auditorium to the stage. He appeared to be in earnest conversation with his friends, but Caroline set her mind to work with such a depth of concentration upon him that he was drawn to look suddenly round and up at the box.

She gave him a smile of great sweetness—a slow and remote smile, as if she were now, indeed, withdrawn from his affairs. She appeared to consider him with tenderness and kindness. His lips parted a little at this fresh sight of her beauty, and an expression which she could not fathom came into his face. He respectfully drew the attention of his two friends, and they, too, acknowledged Caroline's greeting.

Sculptor Finds Canadians Cool To Artists

VANCOUVER (CP) — A Danish sculptor here thinks artists should come to Vancouver if they hold to the grand tradition that starvation and cold garrets are essential to artistic progress.

Jorgen Christjansen, a sculptor, silversmith and metal-worker, has had a two-year struggle to make his art pay in Canada. He arrived here in 1949 in the hope this new land would offer an outlet for his wares — exquisitely fashioned copper work, sculptured busts of children and fine creations in silver.

But apparently it didn't.

"Canadians, for some inexplicable reason, do not appear to have any great appreciation for art," he said. "I tried teaching. As many as 32 would apply for classes; when they learned the course was not a three-lesson business, their interest would immediately disappear."

A flyer in the First World War, when he lost an eye, and army officer in the Second World War, Christjansen went into the underground when Denmark was occupied. The Gestapo caught him in 1944 and he was imprisoned in a concentration camp, where he did some 350 portraits of fellow-prisoners.

In post-war Denmark there was little demand for his work, so he tried Canada.

It was disappointing. — last summer he worked as cook in a hospital here.

He is fearful that unless there is a revival in Canadian art tastes, he will have to revert to his old role once more.

"If you hear of a good cook's job open, let me know," he said.

Greer Sounds Like Judy Beside Rita's New Accent

By ERSKINE JOHNSON

HOLLYWOOD — Guys and Dolls:

Biggest unexpected laugh in the nation's movie houses is the newsreel shot showing Rita Hayworth's arrival in New York. Rita has developed a British accent that makes Greer Garson sound like Judy Holliday.

Far be it from William Holden to suggest that Clark Gable and Gary Cooper take to pasture.

But it's been a long haul for Bill to prove that he can sweep a glamour queen into his husky arms with as much zip and zing as Gary and Clark.

Hollywood, he wails, has become the paradise of the middle-aged actor and the sweet sixteenish cutie, with the 25-year-old actor considered a jerk.

"The nearer a man is to 50, the likelier he is to draw somebody just out of high school as his co-star," claims Bill. "There simply aren't any young, successful leading men of 25. That's a perfectly normal age for a guy to be romantic, but Hollywood won't let him."

Jane Greer peeked at her gams and whispered that they weren't the same ones RKO is using in billboard advertising for "The Company She Keeps."

The long-stemmed beauty on the billboard is a mystery doll to Jane, who blushed: "They're the longest legs I've ever seen. I don't know whose they are, but I could certainly use them again."

ARTS CENTRE ACTIVITIES

Mrs. Wiley New President

By AUDREY St. D. JOHNSON

Mrs. A. S. Wiley is the new president of the Victoria Arts Centre, succeeding Dr. Harry Hickman.

Dr. Hickman's report showed the gallery had been open for 50 weeks showing a great number of imported exhibits from the U.S., and Canada. The centre's permanent collection was established with purchase of an oil by Ina D. D. Uhthoff and the donation of a number of pictures from members and friends.

The retiring president referred to the centre's sponsorship of the Paganini Quartet and to the educational use being made of the gallery through interest of parent-teacher associations.

The financial report showed a slight increase in the bank balance. It was stressed that an effort should be made to stimulate wider public interest in the gallery.

A new constitution was adopted providing for eight classes of membership.

The new board of directors includes: T. T. Carpenter, P. F. Fairfull, Dr. Hickman, Walter Jeune, Wilfred Johns, Ken McAllister, Miss Sara Spencer, Mrs. Will Spencer, Mrs. I. Uhthoff and Miss P. Wright for two years; G. P. Black, Col. E. H. Casper, Mrs. Gladys Ewen, Dr. C. A. Forsander, Ronald Grant, Mrs. Oscar Lucas, Miss Gwen Scott, Mrs. E. Seeley-Smith, John Wade, and J. A. Whitehead for one year.

DRAMA FESTIVAL

Out-Of-Town Plays Mark Performance

By AUDREY ST.D. JOHNSON

They will enter a short play by Tennessee Williams, "The Lady of Larkspur Lotion" and an excerpt from a long play: "Dark o' the Moon." Both will be seen on Friday night, May 4.

The Victoria Theatre Guild, which has been responsible for some outstanding local productions this season, have entered a mocking costume piece by Noel Coward, "Family Album." The St. Barnabas Players will lend their known artistry to the opening night, with "The Duchess Says Her Prayers" a medieval play.

Other entries will be St. Luke's Players, Y.M.C.A., Island Vagabonds, and six up-island groups.

Gordon Davis will be adjudicator.

Rigid Working Conditions, Good Pay For Movie Babies

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — How would you like to earn $5 a second—for doing nothing?

The only requirement: You must be under 30 days of age.

Of course, this rules out most of the working class. But there are many children in Hollywood who have social security cards before they can focus their eyes.

The reason is that babies are needed for many movies, and nothing will substitute for the real thing. Finding the babies and caring for them is a real production in itself, as I learned from Harold Minniear.

Minniear is the resident teacher at RKO Studio. That means he teaches the student actors (from first grade to college), sees that the laws covering child actors are observed and locates the child talent. The latter can be a headache.

"I have just finished lining up 14 infants for a maternity ward scene in 'The Blue Veil'," he sighed. "It was a big job."

"First I called central casting, from which we got most of our extra talent. They had a few infants registered, mainly by mothers who had had their children used in pictures before. But they didn't have enough. So I had to call the hospitals and private parties. I was on the phone for three days before I found them all."

The fabulous pay for the infants comes from their unique working conditions. Those under 30 days are paid $75 a day, under 90 days $50 and under 180 days $25.

They can be on the set only two hours and in the scene only 20 minutes. Furthermore, they can be photographed only 30 seconds at a time. This is rigidly enforced.

Some of the babies on "The Blue Veil" worked a mere 15 seconds. That comes out to $5 a second, which is not bad pay for doing what comes naturally.

The salary is only the beginning of the expense to the studio. For every infant used in a picture, there must be three full-time workers—a nurse, welfare worker, and chauffeur. There must also be a limousine to call for and deliver each baby and stand by the set at all times.

British Festival Opens Thursday

LONDON (AP)—The King will stand on the steps of St. Paul's Cathedral next Thursday noon and announce the lid is off.

Bells will peal in a thousand belfries and, from that moment to Oct. 1, Britain is expected to be slightly pop-eyed and giddy.

For the King will announce the opening of the Festival of Britain.

He will invite the peoples of the world to come to Britain this summer to have fun at a glittering exposition and to be enlightened, elevated and culturally refreshed at more shows, pageants, concerts and exhibitions than anyone can count.

The festival is the culminating of three years' planning. It will be Britain's brave attempt to lift herself out of austerity and drabness.

BRIDGE LESSON

by Oswald Jacoby

"Stayman's book, 'Expert Bidding,' may be wonderful for good players," writes a Cleveland fan, "but what about dubs like me? I'm not a good player and probably never will be one, although I like the game and play it often. What can you tell my kind of player about no-trump bidding?"

The opening one no-trump bid shows a hand with balanced distribution (no very long or very short suits) with strength in at least three suits (usually in all four suits).

The total strength of the hand is at least an ace and a queen more than average and at most two aces more than average. Remember that an average hand contains one ace, one king, one queen, one jack and one 10.

The reason for having such rigid limits on the strength of the bid is that the opener shows his entire hand in one bid. This makes it easy for his partner to judge what the combined hands are worth.

In the hand shown today, South has average strength in diamonds and clubs. The extra strength in the majors gives him just what he needs to bid one no-trump. North correctly judges that the combined hands are worth a game.

West opens spades, and South must refuse to take the ace of spades until the third round of that suit. Then he can knock out the ace of clubs. East takes the ace of clubs but has no more spades and can do nothing to stop declarer from winning nine tricks.

If South makes the mistake of winning the first or second round of spades, he will be set. South cannot win nine tricks without giving up the lead, and then the opponents will take the rest of the spades.

CARD Sense

Q—With neither side vulnerable your partner deals and bids one heart. The next player bids two diamonds. You hold: Spades K-2, hearts K-Q-7-4, diamonds 6-5-3-2, clubs A-10-6. What you you do?

A—Bid three hearts. You have roughly the value of an opening bid opposite your partner's opening bid, so you expect to make game. The double raise shows your strength together with your fine support for hearts.

TODAY'S QUESTION

With neither side vulnerable the player at your right deals and bids one diamond. You hold: Spade 5, hearts A-Q-8-7, diamonds K-J-9-4, clubs K-10-7-3. What do you do?

Answer tomorrow:

Soybeans Move Up As Illinois Crop

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (UP)—Corn still is king of Illinois farm crops but its position is threatened by a comparative newcomer.

The Illinois Agricultural Department reports that soybeans, listed as a curiosity in 1910 now occupy second place among farm crops in the state. The soybean has forced old standbys—oats, hay and winter wheat—to third, fourth, and fifth places respectively.

The five crops accounted for 98 per cent of all crops harvested in Illinois during 1950.

D.P. Becomes Practicing M.D. In Canada

FORT WILLIAM (BUP) — A Ukrainian-born doctor has opened a medical practice here after a life of terror behind the Iron Curtain.

Dr. Bohdan Myhal, a 33-year-old displaced person, who escaped from totalitarian Poland into Austria eight years ago. He entered Canada as a D.P. in 1947, a year after he graduated with a medical diploma from the University of Innsbruck in Austria.

Myhal fled into Austria from Communist-dominated Poland when he was studying medicine at the Universities of Posnan and Lwow. He was forced to leave his mother, father, one brother and two sisters in Poland, and has not heard of them since.

When he entered Canada as a D.P., Myhal cut wood for the Brompton Pulp and Paper Co. at Beardmore, Ont. Later he worked with the company's first aid office, before getting a chance to serve as an intern at the McKellan General Hospital.

"I don't mind the work," he said. "There were hundreds of highly-trained engineers, lawyers and doctors doing the same 10 months of bush work in order to become Canadian citizens, and escape persecution abroad."

Myhal, a member of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Ontario, has his roots in Canada's future in more than one way. Besides his new medical practice, he was married recently to a Fort William nurse, Victoria Ann Balabuck.

"My mother and father, a high school principal, are lost to me," he said. "I don't know anything about them. My youngest brother was kidnapped when he was studying medicine in Vienna before the city was partitioned.

"My two sisters are somewhere, alive or dead, in the old country. They may be in jail, or in Siberia, or dead. I do not know."

"The Russians," Myhal said, "don't come with warrants or excuses. They just come and take you away and you are never heard from again. You simply become lost. They come into your house and take you away, and you cannot ask questions."

A second brother of the young doctor was killed during the last war, and a third made his way to Toronto as a D.P. He is an agricultural engineer.

Try To Hijack Cannon Costs Offender $5

ST. LOUIS (UP)—A resident of St. Louis didn't think anyone would want a 500-pound cannon so he tried to remove it from Jefferson Barracks, a former Army post.

A judge in the city courts didn't see it that way. He fined 22-year-old Donald A. Dougan $5. Dougan had the cannon on a truck when he was arrested.

U.S. Wants More Aid By U.N. Members In Korea

Delegate Says Every Country Expected To Send Troops In Proportion To Its Means

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United States has stepped up its campaign to get other United Nations members to send more troops to Korea.

Warning that there is no free ride to international security, U.S. delegate Warren R. Austin said Saturday that the U.S. expects every country to make an effort in proportion to its means.

His statement, made in a country-wide broadcast, was couched in general terms, but an American source said it was a "diplomatic echo" of negotiations now being carried on by military headquarters in Washington.

These negotiations, at the military level, are aimed at getting those countries which have sent a few troops to Korea to send more and those which have sent none to start joining up.

This source said the U.S. has assured the countries that sending more men will not be allowed to strip Europe of defences. The American view, he said, is that the Korean war is just a part of the world picture, and that unity demonstrated there may well forestall aggression elsewhere.

Making this point, Austin said: "The price of peace is collective responsibility."

BERLIN (AP)—Gerda Mueller, 56, well-known German actress, died Thursday in the Russian sector of Berlin of a heart ailment, it was announced today.

Seattle Policeman Wounded; Fellow Officer Under Arrest

SEATTLE (AP)—A Seattle policeman was seriously wounded today and a fellow officer, one of his best friends, was held in jail in connection with the shooting.

The wounding followed a gay, late-hour party.

The wounded man was Patrolman G. R. (Bob) Honz, 31. Struck in the left side by the bullet, which came out the back, he was reported in satisfactory condition.

Detectives said Patrolman Joseph R. Mulivrana, 28, in a signed statement admitting shooting his friend as the two men scuffled after Mulivrana dragged his wife from Honz car.

From his hospital bed, Honz said he was convinced the shooting was accidental. He said he bore no animosity.

Mulivrana was booked for investigation.

Urges Incinerator For City Garbage

A complete study of the city's garbage disposal system with a view to installation of an incinerator, has been urged by Ald. J. D. Hunter, chairman of public works.

"Sooner or later we must install an incinerator," said Dr. Hunter. "I know it can't be done this year but at least we can start investigating."

The present garbage disposal system he termed "outmoded" in view of the increase in the city's size.

BIRD WATCHERS GOT IT WHEN MISTAKEN FOR STRIKE PARADE

DANVILLE, Va. (AP)—The Virginia Society of Ornithology was given the bird Saturday.

A hundred members of the society, here for their annual meeting, started out on a bird hunt. The course took them past strikebound Riverside Mill and the picket lines. Pickets mistook the procession as another parade of strikers and several promptly fell in line.

At Dan River, the scientists stopped to study water fowl. Police came up in squad cars, sirens sounding, to see about the commotion at the bridge and to inquire about a parade permit.

Victoria Daily Times

VICTORIA, B.C., MONDAY, APRIL 30, 1951 — 15

What's Your Opinion?

Should Victoria have a race track?

David Johnston, manager R. E. Johnston plumbing and heating wholesale firm, 1971 Cromwell Road: "I think Victoria should have a race track. It's a form of pleasure a lot of people have enjoyed for many years. Why should we be without a race track when Vancouver has one I don't know! Mind you, I don't think horse racing is good for business. But then we do lots of things that aren't all good. We smoke and we drink and horse racing is no worse. I think two weeks of racing would be just about right for Victoria."

Mrs. Eleanor Oie, stenographer, 28 San Jose Avenue: "I'm afraid I'm a little biased as far as horse racing goes. I think it's a pastime that has been abused. The trouble is a lot of people who can't afford it, go out there and lose their shirts. I used to go to the races but I learned my lesson. But then again, a lot of people derive a great deal of pleasure from racing so I don't see why we shouldn't allow it. It's a form of entertainment and everybody says we're short of entertainment here."

Percy Wright, assistant city clerk, 1704 Myrtle Street: "I think myself a race track would do the city more harm than good. When there was a race track here I often heard merchants say their bills were not paid on time during the racing season. The argument is that those who want racing will go to Vancouver and throw their money away there. But I don't think that is general. I think it would be more to the point if you asked people if they thought there should be an exhibition. I think there should be."

Mrs. Dorothy Hendry, at Majorette Coffee Shop, 1882 Taylor Street—"I definitely think they should have one. They have races in the Old Country and this is an English town, so why shouldn't they have one here. I don't think we should have to go all the way to Vancouver for races. People on the island can't afford to go over there for three or four days. Horse racing is one of England's oldest sports and I think the visitors who come here would like to see it. I go to races because I love horses and I like to see them run. I'd rather see a horse race than a car race or even a baseball game."

Dr. J. Douglas Hunter, city alderman, 911 Linden Avenue—"Well now, I don't think I should say whether Victoria should have a race track or whether it shouldn't. All I have to say is I like horse racing and when they're not running here I have to go to Vancouver. I patronize the races but everybody who knows me knows that. Oh, I guess I might as well admit I'd like to see a race track here."

Mrs. Edith Gilmore, in meat department at Quadra Super-Valu Store, 1026 Pemberton Road—"I don't think it would do any harm. People who don't like races don't have to go to them. I think myself, though, that racing is a good recreation and a recreation that provides the working man with a great deal of pleasure. I think most people know when to stop as far as the betting goes. People don't have to bet. They can get pleasure just watching. That's what I do."

JOHNSON EXPECTED TO OUTLINE POLICY

New Hospital Insurance Scheme To Be Explained To Laurier Club

Premier Byron Johnson will fill his first speaking engagement here since the Legislature ended its 1951 session when he addresses the Laurier Club next Monday night on major government policies.

He undoubtedly will include in his speech to the Liberal Party club an explanation of the government's course in increasing hospital insurance premiums and introducing co-insurance.

The Premier featured hospital insurance when he addressed the B.C. Liberal Women's Forum at Trail last Friday and reports state his speech was well received.

Mr. Johnson is motoring to the coast from Trail and may return to Victoria before going to New Westminster to address the annual meeting of the Y.M.C.A. in that city on Wednesday.

He will be back in Victoria Thursday and will welcome to the city Hon. Stanley Woodward, U.S. Ambassador to Canada, who is arriving Friday for a two-day stay. Premier Johnson and cabinet ministers will entertain the ambassador at an informal luncheon at the Union Club on Saturday.

New Look For W.D.'s

Many of approximately 80 young Victoria women who have inquired about joining R.C.A.F.'s newly-activated Women's Division probably will be wearing this smartly-styled new outfit. Other uniform items include blue raincoat with hood and greatcoat cut on same lines as those worn by officers.

Cadet Inspection

The annual cadet inspection at University School will be held Wednesday afternoon at 2.

Claims City Cell Unfit

Police Chief John Blackstock today refuted the claim of a man made in open court that the "drunk cell" in the city lockup was not fit for occupancy.

Gordon Daley, about 45, no fixed address, made the charge before Magistrate H. C. Hall.

After reporting the cell was fumigated periodially, the chief took newsmen to look it over.

Police claim it was clean before Daley was put in the cell.

Daley pleaded not guilty to a charge of supplying an Indian with wine. He was remanded to tomorrow for trial.

Seek Students For Reserve Forces

A concerted effort was begun today by the reserve army to interest Greater Victoria high school students in reserve force activities. Recruiters intend, by means of circulars, to put over to high school students advantages of enlisting now so as to participate in the summer program.

Youngsters between 17 and 20 will be sent to summer training camp, provided with a uniform, free room and board and a $150 allowance.

Three-Cent Rise In Tobacco Prices

Victoria tobacconists today said all new shipments of packaged tobacco after today will bear the new federal excise tax, which will mean a three-cent additional charge to smokers.

Popular brands which have been selling at 20 cents a package will be 23 cents and 25-cent brand will be 28.

Claudette Verneuil

Likes Being Married To Famous Conductor

By HUMPHREY DAVY

"There is nothing like being married to a musician. You can keep an eye on him and he is always home when he is not performing."

These were the words today of charming Claudette Verneuil, wife of composer Manuel Rosenthal, of the Seattle Symphony Orchestra. Mrs. Verneuil, French soprano, will be a guest artist in tonight's final 1951 Victoria symphony concert at Memorial Arena, where the Victoria Symphony Orchestra will perform Beethoven's Ninth Symphony. The program will also include "The Hymn of Praise" by Mendelssohn.

"It's wonderful being married to a conductor," she said. "We have lots of fun together."

Learning that the Times' reporter could speak French, Mrs. Verneuil, who has been only two years in the United States, promptly switched to her native language during the interview at the Empress Hotel. She said that she found life easier in the United States but not nearly as exciting as in France or Europe.

She said she still has French wine with her meals instead of water.

Then, with a twinkle in her eyes, she added:

"Of course, it peps you up a bit, too."

To permit the singer to practice for tonight's concert, the Empress Hotel today turned over the whole of the lower lounge to Mrs. Verneuil. But despite closed doors, her beautiful voice was heard through the hotel.

Symphony, 8.15 Tonight

Final concert of the 1950-5 season by the Victoria Symphony Concert will be held at 8.15 tonight in the Memorial Arena.

Curtail Service

Repairs to the pump serving Sayward-Piercy water area, Cordova Bay, will sharply curtail the water supply Tuesday, H. D. Dawson, Saanich municipal engineer, said today.

Residents will be asked to conserve water for domestic use, and to eliminate garden sprinkling entirely.

IN COURT

VICTORIA

E. G. Simpson, 2830 Prior, was fined $5 for practicing as a masseur while not being licensed under the Physiotherapists Act. Following a plea of guilty, Mr. Simpson claimed he was under the impression that all he required to carry on his practice was a city trades license.

Hector M. Volger, 923 Kings, was remanded to May 7 on a charge of being intoxicated while in control of a car. He earlier pleaded guilty. Remand was made necessary owing to illness of his counsel, James J. Proudfoot.

Plea of not guilty was entered by John H. Thwaites, Box 1330 R.R. 4, to a charge of careless driving. He was remanded to May 4 for trial.

HEADED FOR SECOND RECORD

Victoria Should Establish New Mark For April Precipitation

Victoria was set today to record its second all-time April weather record in three days.

Weather Bureau spokesmen said the city is bound to set a new low figure for April precipitation at the close of day today. The previous all-time low was .21 of an inch set in 1905. Total precipitation this month—a record month for sunshine in Victoria's history—has been only .10 of an inch.

There were only two days this month showing a trace or slightly more of rain.

The weatherman said today's sunshine would be followed by cloudliness overnight and more clouds and scattered showers tomorrow. It will continue cool, with a predicted low tonight of 42 and a high tomorrow of 54.

Today was the 27th sunny day this month. Only on April 8, 18 and 27 was it cloudy. April sun total up to 11 a.m. today was 294.6 hours, well above the old mark of 274 set in 1918.

ISSUE FIRE PERMITS

Meanwhile, with cooler weather and some recent moisture, Victoria, Oak Bay, Saanich and Esquimalt began issuing fire permits Sunday. Victoria issued 75, Oak Bay 25, Saanich 40, and Esquimalt one.

The permits were issued on a "day to day basis depending on conditions," fire officials said.

Permits were banned during the dryest weather because of the fire menace.

Week-end rains squelched forest fire danger throughout much of the Vancouver forest district, which includes Vancouver Island, over the week-end.

A forest service official said he expects reports will show all fires burning last week are now out.

DENIED USE OF PLAYLOT, BOYS TURN TO VANDALISM

A group of Esquimalt 'teenagers, denied the privilege of using recreational devices in a children's playlot next to 1037 Lyall Street, have been attempting to wreck equipment there, it was learned today.

John Halstead, builder and honorary supervisor of the playlot, reported damage over the week-end to swings and a merry-go-round.

Mr. Halstead blames youngsters in their early 'teens. He said the playlot was intended for small children and that signs had been placed there by the municipality, restricting its use to youngsters under 12. He said older children had been disregarding the signs and had been taking over amusement devices at the park—pushing younger children aside.

Increased Hospital, Ward Rates Announced By H.I.S.

New Levy Made Retroactive To First Of Year

Higher hospital ward rates were announced today by heads of the B.C. Hospital Insurance Service who said payments to hospitals under the new fixed budget method of operation outlined by Health Minister Douglas Turnbull during the last session of the Legislature will be up $2,800,000 this year.

The new rates set after a reduction of $750,000 in the budgets submitted to H.I.S. by the hospitals, show Victoria's Royal Jubilee Hospital daily ward charge up from $11.30 to $11.15, and St. Joseph's from $10.80 to $11.10.

Other major hospitals: Vancouver General up from $13 to $13.60; Vancouver Grace from $10.25 to $10.84; Vancouver Mount St. Joseph's $9.80 to $10.50; Vancouver St. Paul's from $10.15 to $11.10; Vancouver St. Vincent's from $9.50 to $10.13; New Westminster Royal Columbian from $11.20 to $11.95; New Westminster St. Mary's from $10 to $10.64; North Vancouver General from $10.50 to $11.64.

Officials said the new rates to be paid retroactive to Jan. 1, have been held to be the lowest possible figure consistent with good service.

Total of the hospitals' budgets as submitted was $25,000,000 on which the $750,000 cut was made.

HIGH BED COSTS

Of the $2,800,000 increase in payments estimated for hospitals under the new rates, over 50 per cent was attributed to cost of new beds in operation and those to be brought into operation during the year.

The new rates were based on estimated adult and children occupancy of hospitals.

Under the fixed budget method of hospital operation which becomes effective Tuesday, any deficits incurred during the year after H.I.S. had made allowance for certain uncontrollable factors, would have to be met by the individual hospitals.

When questioned as to how hospitals were to cut expenses, Donald M. Cox, assistant commissioner in charge of hospitals, said this was entirely in the hands of the individual hospital boards but H.I.S. had made certain suggestions.

Both Commissioner Lloyd Detwiller and Mr. Cox said H.I.S. would consider hospital deficits in the matter of co-insurance collections if it was shown that good collection methods had been used.

They said co-insurance collections so far had been better than anticipated—between 70 and 80 per cent. The public and the hospitals were co-operating, and the extra charge seemed to have been accepted.

Ambulance Meeting

B.C. Electric's Brigade No. 254, St. John Ambulance, will meet at 8 tonight.

May 24 Celebrations Door Prize

City Clerk Frank Hunter, chairman of Victoria's May 24 celebrations committee, accepts symbolic key from Dick Wilson, local Chevrolet dealer. Car will be door prize in city's big May 24 celebrations and sale of tickets will help defray expenses. Holders of associate membership tickets will alone be eligible for prize.

School Board To Press For Lansdowne Project

Greater Victoria School Board will definitely call upon the B.C. Department of Education to have the new $600,000 Lansdowne Junior High School completed despite the province's plan to cut school construction in half this year, Maj. R. H. Green, chairman of the Victoria board, said today.

The board will hold a special meeting Wednesday at 8 to discuss the situation.

"We are anxious to have this one project above all carried through," Maj. Green declared. Five other major local school projects also may be affected by the curtailment plan. Victoria School Board has a total of $1,000,000 worth of construction planned.

"The Lansdowne School building plans are the only ones in the hands of contractors for tenders," Maj. Green said. "What happens will depend on whether the tenders come within the money apportioned for the job."

The provincial department announced its curtailment program at the request of Ottawa to conserve essential materials for national defence.

Shinglers Return To Work Today

Shinglers employed by Parker Johnson Ltd., and Pacific Insulation & Roofing Co. Ltd., reported back to work today after a week's work stoppage. The men, members of the Shingle Workers' Local of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners, walked off the job last Monday with shinglers from other firms who were dissatisfied with wages and working conditions.

Most of the shinglers returned to work last week, after their employers had agreed to union proposals for new work contracts.

Workers of Parker Johnson and Pacific Insulation returned to work today with the understanding these firms, too, would give consideration to union demands.

Crash Damages Cars

Moderate damage was done to cars driven by John B. Lawson, 2164 Oak Bay, and Imari Kuusinen, 3487 Bethune, Sunday evening when they collided at the intersection of Oak Bay and Richmond, police reported. No one was injured.

Hungry Characters These Clothes-Eating Moths!

By PENNY SAVER

A tiskit, a tasket, there's been a moth in me yellow jacket . . . and if I ever get me hands on the wee flying beastie . . .But that's not the attitude . . . I should have been in there like a bird dog with a handsome supply of moth spray before this. I've got me a fine bottle of the liquid now, though, and use it I will.

Mind, it wasn't that moth who did all the chomping on my fine jacket, it was her tiny offsprings. Evidently, under favorable conditions the children of one female moth will eat 92 pounds of wool fibre in a single year. Gad zooks, good thing I found the destruction when I did or might have had only the buttons to my name.

This bottle of spray, by the way, gives me a five-year written guarantee of peace of mind . . . where my clothes are concerned, that is: To apply the liquid, just use vacuum cleaner attachment or ordinary hand spray and cover every square inch of the article to be moth-proofed. Evidently, this moth spray won't protect clothes if you spray closets, cracks and crevices in floors. It has to be applied directly to the article you intend to moth-proof.

Sum of $1.29 pays for a pint of the protecting liquid and you can buy quantities up to a gallon for $11.75. Clothing, furs, furniture and floor coverings will take kindly to a mothproofing treatment.

Prices are good and the supply excellent on California new potatoes . . . on the local scene, you'll find cauliflowers, hothouse tomatoes and cucumbers more plentiful and not 'alf bad where prices are concerned.

Find any strawberries or corn-on-the-cob over the week-end? Some stores had 'em.

More fun than a picnic preparing vegetables during these salad days. Magazines and cook books offer so many artistic suggestions for a bunch of carrots, beets, celery and a head of lettuce, that it turns a chore into a challenge.

To help you along with your ideas for food decoration there is, of all things, a French fry cutter.

Slip a cumbersome carrot into the "machine" and the outcome will be slender sticks of the orange vegetable. For shoe string potatoes, the 35-cent gadget will do you nicely.

Happy Trio Among Those Assisted By Shower

Georgina, Donna and Bonnie, left to right, are in that group of boys and girls who live at the Protestant Orphanage on Cook Street, and it is for them and the others that the ladies' committee has again arranged the annual linen shower next Thursday afternoon at the home. Afternoon tea will be served from 3 until 5.30. Committee president, Mrs. Walter Luney, will receive guests and members of the board will conduct them on tours of the building. Gifts of linens and donations of cash will be received, and it has been announced through the matron, Mrs. A. Barner, that pillow slips and hand towels are particularly needed.

Watch Hair Styles For Good Groomina

LONDON (CP) — Check your hair styles, ladies! Maimie Truefitt, of London's Bond Street, an experienced hairdresser, says the way you dress your hair can add inches to the hips if you are inclined to be short and plump.

"The oval-shaped face is considered the perfect one today," said Maimie. She has drawn up a chart showing how this effect can be achieved on 12 different types of face.

Here are some examples: "A square, heavy face should have soft high curls above the brow to counterbalance the jawline. Soft width at the temples helps the oval look.

"Recesses at temples and cheeks are a common fault. These can be nullified by a hair style that is drawn towards the temples and cheeks in a soft swirl."

For high cheek bones, hair must be brushed away from the temples in an upward sweep with softness on the brow. A round, plump face needs an off-the-neck hair style. Long hair hanging heavily on the shoulders emphasizes outsize hips.

P.T.A. Notes

Cloverdale — Election of officers will be held at meeting of Cloverdale P.-T.A., Wednesday at 8. Choirs to be entered by Miss M. Duncan in forthcoming musical festival, will be heard in a short program.

A Columbia University professor says many women who never marry unconsciously fool themselves about the reasons why. Women, says Dr. Gertrud Driscoll, are apt to blame their singleness on the fact that there "weren't enough men around during their adolescence and early maturity." But, the doctor adds, more often women remain single because they get erroneous ideas about what men should be like, or because they become convinced that they themselves are not attractive to men.

Posture, nerve, even spine ailments have been traced to shoes; you can't throw one end of your body out of whack without having trouble at the other end. Ninety per cent of women, 10 per cent of men have foot troubles caused by unwise buying and unwiser wearing of shoes.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

'Tis Spring—Time To Take 10 Pounds Off In Nine Days

Lovely spring!

The flowers are in bloom, the birds sing in the trees, and you probably have a bee in your bonnet! You may be dreading the swim suit season. You may have found that 10 pounds have slipped up on you during the winter months and that last year's summer and spring clothes do not look nearly so attractive as they did. Do you hate yourself when you go shopping? Ten pounds make a lot of difference.

Let the bee in your bonnet buzz long enough for you to go on my nine-day reducing diet, which I am offering this week. A bee and a woman should be able to buzz that long when there's a honey of a figure in the offing.

Perhaps you are just nine days away from a youthful slim feeling, from a truly lovely silhouette; just nine days away from new self-confidence. You may be nine days away from better health because overweight does damage health and the best time to attack is to pounce on those first 10 pounds too much before they turn into 15 or 20.

Even though you have more than 10 pounds to lose it is encouraging to get a flying start with a quick loss of from five to 10 pounds. That is what you will lose with this diet, depending on your metabolism, general constitution and habits.

You can lose those pounds without doing exercises, but just in case you wish to tone up as you lose pounds, I am going to give you a simple exercise today to go along with the diet.

Here is today's motion toward beauty.

Lie on the floor with your knees bent half way and your heels on the floor. Bend your elbows, head resting on your hands. Pull your stomach in and press the small of your back to the floor as you push against your hands with your head. Hold while you count to 10. Relax. Repeat.

This is a mild abdominal exercise and straightens the spine. It is also corrective to swayback and dowager's hump.

If you would like to have my handy Nine-Day Reducing Diet Booklet send 10 cents with a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Does overweight keep you from smiling as does attractive Doris Day, during the swim suit season?

SPELLING NOT GIRLS' LONG SUIT

These young women, all high school graduates and many who hold college degrees, lack basic training in "readin' and writin' and 'rithmetic," say executives whose business is the hiring and training of secretarial help.

Rose Brophy, who has found jobs for some 25,000 secretaries in her 20 years as employment specialist in New York, bears out these findings. Says she:

"I'm constantly amazed at how many college graduates can't spell."

And, says this specialist, if you want to succeed in business, for goodness' sake learn to spell.

Betty Evans Bride Of C. F. Smith

The home of Dr. A. E. Whitehouse, Johnson Street, was the scene of a quiet wedding Saturday evening when Elizabeth Rosa (Betty) Evans, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Evans, 2871 Shakespeare Street, became the bride of Charles Francis Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. Smith, 1482 Glyn Road.

For the ceremony at 8, the bride chose a tailleur of navy blue with matching accessories, and added a note of contrast in her corsage bouquet of vivid red roses and lily of the valley.

Wearing a wine-toned suit, with sweet peas en corsage was the bride's attendant, Mrs. H. F. Dunnaway.

Rooms were bright with bouquets of tulips, fragrant lilac and narcissi for the reception at the home of the bride's parents. The newlyweds cut a three-tier wedding cake at the table set with lighted white candles in silver holders and vases of sweetheart roses. P. W. Plimley proposed the toast.

For the honeymoon in California and Arizona the bride chose an off-white topcoat to wear over her matching dress. Her accessories were tones of royal purple and her corsage bouquet of white orchids.

Hostess—Mrs. G. Andrews was hostess recently at her home on Prior Street, to the Women's Benefit Association, pioneer club members. A short business meeting was conducted by Mrs. M. Thompsett and a tribute of silence paid the late Mrs. Ada Davis. Plans were outlined for the convention in June to be held in Vancouver. Miss Agness Koob, supreme commander will visit the coast for the convention. Assisting the hostess were Mesdames M. Watson, H. Corbett, and O. Pomeroy. Spring flowers were arranged throughout the rooms and on the lace-covered tea table.

The bride, given in marriage by her uncle, Leopold Himmelblau, England, chose a wedding gown of champagne tulle over satin fashioned with a bertha of lace encrusted with pearls, lily point sleeves, and skirt that fell in soft folds extending into a long graceful train. Her bouquet was of orchids and lily of the valley.

Maid of honor, Miss Vera Winston, wore cloud pink nylon tulle and Mrs. Fred Davis, Napa, California, sister of the groom, was in palest blue nylon tulle. Both attendants carried bouquets of pink and blue stocks.

Best man was Edmund Rose and Morton Gold, Clyde Dickinson and Philip Sulman, Seattle, were ushers.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Kramer received guests at a reception held in the Century Room of the Monterey, where the bride's table was set with bowls of spring flowers.

Strive To Check Population Rise

BOMBAY (Reuters)—India is looking to birth control to help solve the problem of too many mouths to feed.

India's population is growing fast—in the cities alone it has doubled in the last 10 years—and the means of subsistence is dwindling perceptibly.

While the Indian government is striving toward increased food production and higher living standards, Indian economists and sociologists have launched a campaign to check the speedy increase in the nation's population.

In law, as in medicine, there seems to be no end to the number of unqualified people eager to give advice.

Advice given by such persons has deep pitfalls for the unwary.

Law case records disclose countless misfortunes incurred by people who acted on advice given by the unlearned.

Lawyers are trained and experienced to advise and guide in any matter having legal consequences.

—and true the Irish proverb, "one advice bought is worth two advices gratis."

Unique Woman Map-Maker

BRANTFORD, Ont. (CP)—Making pioneer maps combining the history and geography of various counties in Ontario is the unusual hobby of Mrs. Derwent Kinton of Toronto.

Mrs. Kinton has compiled maps of four southern Ontario counties and now is working on one of Brant County. Each is well illustrated with authentic historical detail to tell the story of Ontario's past.

She illustrates her maps with drawings of famous local landmarks; prominent personalities and typical manufactured products of the area. They are bordered with Indian pottery markings and drawings of archaeological specimens peuculiar to the county.

Preparation of a map takes from one to two years. Mrs. Kinton searches county atlases and records and carefully checks details for accuracy, location and time. The finished product is an extension of her work as a commercial artist before she was married, she says.

Mrs. Kinton's interest in map-making grew from her decision several years ago to make a unique lampshade. On it she pictured the history and romance of her native county of Waterloo and has been making maps ever since.

"I am trying to save the history that lies all around us," she says.

OIL FLOW QUICKENS

Alberta Supplies A Third Of Total

By HARRY YOUNG, Times Business Editor

Some conception of the ultimate value of the western oilfields to Canadian economy can be obtained from the stepping up of production predicted for 1951.

In 1951 it is estimated that the market for Canadian crude will increase from 29,058,067 barrels to 46,000,000 barrels, or in easier terms, an average of 127,000 barrels daily against the 1950 figure of 79,611.

The big increase is made possible by the sudden opening of the new eastern market, with crude flowing through the Inter - provincial pipeline to Superior at the lakehead and then by ship to the Imperial Oil refineries at Sarnia, Ont.

Young

The estimated 46,000,000 barrels for 1951 is sufficient to meet 30 per cent of the entire Canadian crude oil requirement, easily the highest percentage the country has ever achieved.

Last year Canada had to import 77.6 per cent of its crude and in 1946, the year before the Leduc field came into operation only 9.6 per cent of the crude used in Canada was from home wells.

In the interval between 1946 and 1951 Canada's oil needs have increased by approximately 56 per cent.

In terms of international finance, the western oils have also played a vital part in the economy of the dominion. In 1948, western Canadian oils saved the country $9 millions that would otherwise have had to be paid for in U.S. dollars. In 1951 that saving will come to an estimated $150 million, which can be used for other import needs.

As the oil potential of the Alberta wells increases, and the pipeline to the Pacific Coast becomes an accomplished fact the western oils will take on an added importance. It is not beyond the bounds of possibility that within another five-year spell Canada will be fully self-supporting in crude oil, and may even be an exporter.

In addition the ancilliary development of natural gas may be expected to provide ever-growing communities of Canada and the United States with heat and power-producing energy.

With a ready market known to be in existence on the Pacific Coast for iron ore, news is awaited of new discoveries which would encourage the installation of a smelter locally.

Henry Hill, the engineer who has been exploring the iron ore deposits on the Quatsino Copper-Gold property on the north end of Vancouver Island, tells me that another 10 feet seam has been drilled at the 199-foot level.

"We are hoping to block out half a million tons, which would be our minimum commercial requirements," he said. "We are taking in drilling equipment which will give us deeper penetration, and we have still to tackle the outcrop which looks promising."

The original find of iron on the Quatsino company was announced last December when bad weather halted further drilling.

ALBERTA OIL

Excelsior Gets Boost

Special To The Times

CALGARY—Crude oil production in Alberta for the week ended April 23 set a daily average of 82,061 barrels, down more than 2,000 barrels from the daily average of 84,780 barrels set the previous week.

Production came from a total of 2,207 wells, either producing or capable of being produced, an increase of 10 over the previous week.

The two major oil fields both showed production drops, the daily average at Redwater decreasing from 39,554 barrels to 35,269 barrels, and at Leduc the average dropped from 28,275 barrels daily to 27,479 barrels. The Excelsior field showed the greatest increase in production, boosting its daily average from 156 barrels to 2,366 barrels.

With the market now extended by the movement of western oil to Eastern Canada by the Great Lakes, future weekly figures are likely to show a sharp increase.

NORTHLAND TEST

American Northland and associates have received their third gas flow and a water recovery during the third drillstem test in the Basal Quartz at their wildcat venture, about five miles southeast of Leduc.

Latest test at the well was from 4,462 feet, giving gas at the rate of 2,900,000 cubic feet daily and a recovery of 60 feet of naptha cut water. Previous tests in the Basal Quartz were: From 4,418 to 4,442 feet, gas at 146,000 cubic feet daily and a recovery of 50 feet of gassy mud, and from 4,437 to 4,449 feet, gas at 1,800,000 cubic feet daily and a recovery of 32 feet of gas-cut mud.

Join Home Oil

Brigadier J. B. Weir of Montreal and J. W. Moyer, Calgary, were elected to the directorate of Home Oil Co. at annual meeting in Calgary.

Both are connected with Federated Petroleum, Brigadier Weir as a director and Mr. Moyer as secretary-treasurer. Federated was recently rumored to be in the process of absorbing Home Oil Co. A statement that no sale had been made was later given by J. R. Lowery, president of Home Oil.

Can Co. Officials

NEW YORK—The American Can Company has announced the election of C. H. Black, president of the container-making firm since 1949, as chairman of the board of directors and W. C. Stolk, executive vice-president, to fill the position of president.

Base Metals Provide Brightest Features

TORONTO (CP) — Prices drifted in a mixed, narrow path. Gains and losses were about balanced and trading was extremely quiet.

In industrials, paper showed a little support and slowly moved ahead while steels, utilities, textiles and banks eased. St. Lawrence Corporation climbed to a new high in papers and Abitibi added about a point.

Golden Manitou and Quebec Manitou were the base metal features as they climbed briskly to new 1950 peaks. Also higher were East Sullivan, International Nickel, Noranda, Steep Rock and Sherritt Gordon.

Consolidated Smelters dropped about a point and Falconbridge, Waite Amulet, Pend Ore and Labrador posted small declines.

Western Oils weakened slowly. Heading the lower stocks were Anglo-Canadian, Federated Petroleum, Calmont, Pacific Petroleum and Trend Petroleum.

Oils In Demand

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market just about held its ground with the aid of continued buying of oil shares.

Demand was highly selective and included some of the chehmicals, rails and rubbers, which scored gains ranging to an extreme of more than $2 a share. BBut many pivotal issues such as steels and motors failed to participate resulting in a wide assortment of small losses.

Urgent pressure in either direction was lacking.

Canadian issues were mixed. McIntyre increased ½, Canadian Pacific ⅝ and Distillers Seagrams ⅛. Dome Mines and Hiram Walker were unchanged. International Nickel eased ⅛. On the curb Lake Shore gained ⅛. Giant Yellow Knife dropped ⅛.

Papers Push Ahead

MONTREAL (CP)—Securities pushed irregularly ahead towards the close.

Papers were mainly unchanged to stronger, paced by St. Lawrence Corporation common, which rose 2 points to 47½, and the first preferred, which was up 2½ points to 92½.

Senior metals eased and senior oils were narrow and mixed. Banks were unchanged. Steels were mainly stronger.

Mines and western oils pushed slightly higher. Dome Mines rose 62½ cents to $17.75, Golden Manitou was up 35 cents to $7.35, Quebec Manitou up 20 25 cents to $15.75.

Indian Stays Firm

VANCOUVER—Little business was done and prices where changed were generally fractionally lower. Among mines the Indian, Premier, Silbak trio were among the most active and all held their recent advances.

Estelle at 1.80, down 10 cents; Pioneer at 2.00, down 5 cents; Hamil Silver at 35, down 2 cents, and Base Metals at .61, down 2 cents, were weak spots.

Britalta was 2.65 in oils, while Calvan advanced 10 cents to 5.10. Others were little changed. Canadian Collieries traded at 4.35 just before midday.

BEDTIME STORY

by Thornton W. Burgess

Only those who distant roam
Know the preciousness of home.
—Farmer Brown's boy.

"Cheer-up, cheer-up, cheer-up, cheer!"

Farmer Brown's boy lay for a moment listening. Then he got out of bed and went to the window. In the very top of the big elm tree he could see Welcome Robin.

"Cheer-up, cheer-up, cheer-up, cheer!"

"He must know I'm home," thought Farmer Brown's boy as he hurriedly dressed. Of course he knew that Welcome Robin knew nothing of the kind. Or did he? When he had arrived yesterday afternoon Welcome Robin had run across the grass in front of him. And it was what he called his own Welcome Robin, not a strange Robin. He knew because there on one leg was the band, the numbered silvery band, he had placed there several years ago, and on the other leg a little colored band put there that he might always be sure who it was without having to trap his friend to look at the number on the silvery band. This was the fifth spring, or sixth, he didn't remember which, that Welcome Robin had returned and from that very tree-top morning after morning sung his cheery greeting to a new day.

"Why shouldn't he know me? Who can say he doesn't? I'm going to believe he does anyway. I'm sure he never had given me a cheerier greeting," thought Farmer Brown's boy as he stepped outside.

Almost at once there was the flit of little wings close to one ear as a lively small person flew down on his shoulder. "Dee, dee, dee, dee! See me! See me!" cried Tommy Tit the Chickadee. "Dee, dee, dee, dee! See me! See me!"

"I see you you scamp, and glad I am to see you," cried Farmer Brown's boy as the feathered sprite flew to a window-sill then back to his shoulder. It was an old trick of his. He was teasing for peanut meats just as he had done almost daily in winters past. But not this last winter. Farmer Brown's boy had spent this way down south in the Land-of-always-summer. He went back in the house and brought out some chopped peanuts. "Dee dee, dee, dee! See me! See me!" cried Tommy Tit happily and flew off with a tiny piece of peanut.

From a fence post on the edge of the Green Meadows came the clear lovely song of Carol the Meadow Lark.

Softly sweet, evasive, seeming to come from everywhere and nowhere, a plaintive whistle that, despite its plaintiveness, was somehow joyous greeted him. He looked over to a house he had long ago made and put out especially for Winsome and Mrs. Bluebird. There on the roof of it, his coat like a scrap of the sky where it was bluest, sat Winsome himself. Perhaps those soft love notes were intended for Mrs. Winsome, but Farmer Brown's boy liked to think they were a welcome home for him.

From overhead came a familiar voice. Farmer Brown's boy looked up. "Caw, caw, caw, caw!" called Blacky the Crow. Curiously his harsh voice sounded almost sweet as he circled once, looking down as if to make sure his eyes were not deceiving him, then headed for the Green Forest. "Caw, caw, caw, caw!" Was he crying the news?

There was a flash of blue in an apple tree on the edge of the Old Orchard and another familiar voice that somehow seemed much less harsh than Farmer Brown's boy remembered it, began to scream excitedly. Instead of "Thief! Thief! Thief!" as usual, Sammy Jay seemed to be screaming, "He's here! Here! Here!" It ended in a sweet bee-like note, a note Sammy Jay uses only in the spring. It was his love call. Farmer Brown's boy smiled happily.

From a fencepost on the edge of the Green Meadows came the clear, lovely song of Carol the Meadow Lark. From over in the Green Forest came the scream of Redtail the Hawk, not a scream of anger or distress, but a scream of pure joy. Down in the Smiling Pool, Peeper the Hyla and his friends sounded like tiny fairy sleighbells all a-jingle. On the very best-sounding dead limb of a tall maple tree Drummer the Woodpecker was drumming a salute.

"It is good to be home," sighed Farmer Brown's boy as he patted Bowser the Hound with one hand while Flip the Terrier leaped up to lick the other hand.

Floating Thhe Mortgage

An unidentified resident of Campbells Island, near East Moline, Ill., solves the housing problem by pitching a tent aboard a river boat after his house (in background) was flooded out by the rampaging Mississippi. Thousands have been forced to evacuate homes as the flood crest hit record high marks.

Radioactive Mosquitoes In Research Plan

FORT CHURCHILL, Mann. (CP)—Mosquitoes will be impregnated with radioactive phosphorus this summer. Then scientists from this northern military camp will tail them with geiger counters.

The scientists, from the staff of the Defence Research Board, hope to obtain information helpful in controlling the pest in populated areas.

It is not new. For the last two summers Canadian and American entomologists have used this method to check migration of mosquitoes from their breeding grounds.

"Further work is anticipated," said Bill Beckel, an official of the research board.

SPRAYED IN PONDS

Radioactive phosphorus is sprayed in ponds and it stays with the mosquito from egg to adult stage. Millions of mosquitoes are later caught by net near Fort Churchill.

The mosquitoes are killed, spread over a table, scanned with a gieger counter. Those which react are then known to have come from the sprayed area.

"We may know the distance it is necessary to control the mosquitoes from the camp," Mr. Beckel said.

Right now his job is to establish a colony of northern mosquitoes at the laboratory and observe their behavior. Guinea pigs will be used for their "blood meals."

For although a mosquito is a plant feeder to a great extent, said Mr. Bickel, it seeks blood in preference to nectar and plant juices.

"The majority of northern mosquitoes go after blood."

A blood meal lasts a mosquito about three days and, contrary to popular belief, she doesn't die after one helping.

Mr. Beckel says the black fly is a worse villain than the mosquito.

"He doesn't pierce. He literally tears a chunk out of you with his teeth."

Radio Helping Guard Forests; TV Test Starts

TORONTO (CP)—Radio plays an essential role in operations of the fire-fighting and patrol services of the Ontario Lands and Forests Department. Ninety-two ground stations and nearly 500 radio sets are used in its network and the provincial aircraft are all radio-equipped.

Perched atop the highest hills of the bush country 340 forestry towers have sets for transmission to and from district headquarters. Rangers on the ground carry 79 light, portable two-way sets which were developed and built by the department's own technical staff.

Seven patrol boats and 10 cars and trucks also are equipped with radio, using vehicle sets produced by the department's radio branch. Although they are built for a 50-mile range, these sets have communicated a distance of more than 300 miles between Toronto and Sault Ste. Marie.

It's the largest network of its type in the world and of course is available for any sort of emergency operation. Except for the small sets used in the towers, all radio equipment of the department can operate between aircraft, ground, boats, bases and other cars or trucks.

CAMERAS ROLL

Practical television training has begun for CBC personnel at Toronto with aid of two television camera "chains" loaned by the Marconi Company. The Toronto studios at present have no permanent television equipment.

The first TV workout in Canada took place at Maple Leaf Gardens when cameras were set up in a gondola high above the ice surface for a National Hockey League game between Toronto Maple Leafs and Montreal Canadiens, who incidentally are the Stanley Cup finalists.

A control unit was set up at another point in the building, and both units were linked by coaxial cable. The pictures from the two cameras were fed to the control unit. Use of two cameras was necessary for proper coverage. One camera took the overall picture of the ice surface and crowd, while the other concentrated on action close-ups around the goals and the inevitable tangles between players.

At the control unit the program director by means of a switch selected the particular series he wanted to go out at the moment.

For outdoor programs such as baseball, horse races and the like, the CBC will use a mobile television unit which is being obtained from England. This unit will transmit its original pictures either by a long cable or a micro-wave link to a receiving cone located on the transmitting tower.

STIRLING, Scotland (CP)—Chosen by the Scottish association to make a three-month tour of Canada, Miss Anne Christie, treasurer of the Stirling Young Farmers' Clubs, hopes to study milk production methods.

A name to endure

Saskatchewan

TWO FOAMING STREAMS rush down from the Rockies. An ever-broadening flood, each sweeps majestically eastward. Joined together, they make the mighty river which gave a Canadian province the enduring name Saskatchewan . . . "Swift Current."

Swift, too, has been Saskatchewan's advance in Canada's breathtaking progress. Where vast herds of buffalo once darkened the plains, now mile upon mile of russet wheatfields stretch away to the far horizon. In the short space of a lifetime a lonely prairie has been transformed into a province of bustling activity.

One of the world's largest wheat granaries, Saskatchewan is today developing her great potential resources of lumber, oil and minerals. The far-sighted and energetic people of Saskatchewan, who have already made such brilliant progress, prepare now for an ever greater part in Canada's future.

RADIO B.C. . . It's gratifying to note that plans are now under way to bring Canadian radio to the heretofore remote corners of north and north central B.C. The first of five low-powered transmitters designed to bring CBC programs to out-of-the-way listeners between Prince George and Prince Rupert was installed a little over a week ago, with the initial unit going up at Smithers.

CBC plans, according to Kenneth Caple, regional representative, call for additional installations this summer at Vanderhoof, Burns Lake, Hazelton and Terrace. The program had been held up pending negotiations and line rights. Equipment, which had been originally planned for these areas, meanwhile, was installed at other points in Canada where low-power transmitters were badly needed.

Each of these 20-watt transmitters have been designed to give good coverage within an area of approximately 10 miles in diameter. Similar units have been successfully in use for several years at a dozen or more points in the province. The transmitters will carry the complete program service of the CBC Trans-Canada network.

Installation of the Smithers transmitter was directed by F. B. C. Hilton, CBC regional engineer. He was accompanied by Fred Wilson of the corporation engineering staff. When completed these installations should come as welcome additions to the limited radio reception of our northern neighbors.

Meantime our scouts tell us the report of the Royal Commission on Arts and Sciences, in relation to radio, is expected to be brought down early in May. The Royal Commission, headed by the Hon. Vincent A. Massey, as chairman, has been sitting across the country since last September with the exception of a four-week recess over the Christmas season. Previously the Royal Commission findings had been expected to be made public in February. We understand the report is now in the hands of the printers and will be released as soon as completed in both English and French.

It is expected the Royal Commission will recommend to the Federal Cabinet that private stations be permitted to organize, and own, private networks. Some consideration may also be given to the operation of mutual network facilities. Bill Guild, manager of CJOC, Lethbridge, has been sitting in on the inquiry on behalf of the Canadian Association of Broadcasters.

There are strong rumors the Royal Commission will recommend:

1. CBC leave the commercial field.

2. That present CBC radio receiver license fees be abolished.

CBC would then off-set deficits through program fees and government grants from general revenue. It has long been a contentious issue among private radio stations that the CBC be their, and its own, "policeman" for Canadian radio, in view of the fact the Department of Transport—which body governs and controls radio in Canada—invariably follows the advise of the CBC on Canadian radio matters.

* * *

Tonight at 5.30 Patrice Munsel sings the "Laughing Song" from "Die Fledermaus" on "Voice of Firestone" over KOMO. Richard Windmark and Lionel Barrymore re-create their screen roles in "Down to the Sea in Ships" on the "Lux Theatre" over CJVI—CJOR and KIRO at 6. Then the opening of the 66th season of "Boston Pops" on KOMO at 7, and "Railroad Hour" with "Music in the Air" is on KOMO at 8.30. At 9, Ezio Pinza returns to the "Telephone Hour" on KOMO. At 9.05 there is Victoria's opening baseball game over CKDA.

DOCTOR SAYS

By Dr. Edwin P. Jordan

The saving of life and the relief of suffering are the twin objectives of medicine. All doctors swear to uphold them when they become full-fledged members of the profession. That these objectives are imperfectly achieved everyone knows, yet it is hard to believe that anyone would put obstacles in the path of progress which would make it possible to save more lives and relieve suffering more effectively.

But this is the position of those who oppose animal experimentation. I like to believe that "they know not what they do"; certainly many of those who are trying to make animal experimentation impossible are kindly and well meaning even though they cannot fully realize what would happen if they were successful.

In common with other physicians of my generation I have sat by the bedside of children who were literally strangling to death from diphtheria. Today this happens hardly ever, thanks to the information gained from the study of animals.

The child who swallowed a pin or any similar object used to be doomed to death or prolonged illness. Thanks to the careful work of the late Dr. Chevalier Jackson, carried out principally on dogs, instruments have been devised and techniques perfected so that such objects can almost always be removed quickly and safely.

Experiments on dogs and other animals have resulted in contributions of untold importance to the conquest of pernicious anemia, to the betterment of heart surgery and every other kind of surgery and to improved methods of treatment of a vast number of diseases.

The future is even more important. There are many unsolved problems about cancer, high blood pressure, heart disease and other diseases, the solution of which would be long delayed without contributions from animal study.

NO TORTURE

One particularly vicious attack has been aimed at those using animals to better the health of human beings, namely that the animals are tortured. This wicked distortion of the truth is used to enlist the natural kindliness of all good people.

But the animals are not tortured; they are treated well and if painful procedures have to be applied, they are given anesthetics even as you and I when we go under the knife. No, the people who wish well to their fellow man cannot, if they know the truth, honestly hamstring those who are trying so hard to help them.

Spiritual Basis For Security, Says Church Lecturer

People are looking in the wrong direction when they seek security by accumulating money, material things, or modern weapons, said Will B. Davis of Chicago in a lecture on Christian Science here Sunday.

But the way to lasting security —"sure protection from disaster and lack"—is available to every individual, he affirmed. He said true security rests squarely on a spiritual basis, and can be demonstrated step by step by every individual and nation in the form which meets the immediate need.

Mr. Davis, who is a member of the Christian Science Board of Lectureship, addressed a large audience in the Odeon Theatre on the subject, "Christian Science: The Way to True Se-

Parade, Dance, Carnival

Plans have been completed for Esquimalt celebrations Friday and Saturday featuring sports, a parade, street dancing and carnival. The event is sponsored by the Esquimalt Celebration Association to raise funds for youth activities.

The celebrations will open with field sports for schoolchildren Friday afternoon, with boxing in Fraser Street Hall at 8 that night. The ring tournament has been organized by the Esquimalt Sports Club and will feature three Golden Glove champions—Wayne Robertson, Jack O'Hanley and Bobby Thompson.

The parade will be held Saturday morning at 10 with Rear-Admiral W. B. Creery, R.C.N. flag officer, Pacific Coast, taking the march past. Army and navy detachments, five bands and decorated floats will participate.

A baby show will be held at the Canadian Legion Hall Saturday at 1.30 and a soap box derby at 2.30 in the afternoon. On Saturday night there will be an open-air dance opposite the municipal hall and as carnival on the street.

BAD HANGOVER IN VANCOUVER

VANCOUVER (CP) —A drive against drunkenness resulted in the arrest of 58 persons during the week-end.

The campaign to "keep drunks off the streets of Vancouver" was ordered by Chief Constable Walter Mulligan.

Defeat Threatens Irish Government

DUBLIN (Reuters)—The Republic of Ireland's coalition may fall this week to Eamon de Valera who was premier for 16 years until 1948.

Political observers expressed belief today that a series of crises will shake the government into an election that might bring the former premier's Fianna Party back to power.

Several right-wing Independents have wiped out Premier John A. Costello's parliamentary majority by withdrawing their support.

They claim Costello—a Liberal Republican—is making too many concessions to the left and that government prestige has deteriorated greatly through local squabbles.

Another factor that may climax months of political unrest is the resignation three weeks ago of Health Minister Noel Browne. He quit because the Roman Catholic hierarchy condemned his free-for-all mothers and children welfare scheme. Costello backed the bishops and the scheme flopped.

The five-party grouping under Costello would present De Valera with a united front if it came to an election—though the Fianna leader might not get the Independents on his side.

The Independents threatened last Thursday to vote with De Valera against an agriculture financial estimates bill.

MUSCLE MEN NO FITTER

CLEVELAND (AP)—Middle-aged muscle men who work out regularly in the gym probably are no healthier than their take-it-easy pals, a University research report indicated today.

Also, the University came up with a finding that a fat man's extra girth is not made up entirely of lard, but is partly extra muscle built up by lugging the fat around. That's the main reason the heart of a fatso has to work harder than a thin man's.

These separate reports to the American Physiological Society were based on studies made of students and about 300 middle-aged Minneapolis-St. Paul business, political and professional men who volunteered as guinea pigs.

House May Hide Recluse's Cash

Saanich Man Now Dead Reputed To Be Heir To Big English Estate

By HUMPHRY DAVY

An old ramshackle home on Lindsey Street in Saanich, laced with cobwebs, may conceal a hidden treasure estimated at over $100,000—the savings and precious possessions of an aged recluse, it was disclosed today.

The home is that of hermit Leonard Leney, 71, reputed heir of a wealthy English family, who died in Royal Jubilee Hospital recently.

Alan E. Bigelow, administrator of the estate, said there was a possibility that money and valuable possessions might be hidden in the solitary rambling home sitting amidst a 17-acre orchard. He added that a search of the house might be organized before the estate is settled.

Saanich police, meanwhile, said they would keep watch over the house to prevent vandalism.

Leney came to Victoria 20 years ago and at the time was a comparatively wealthy man, Mr. Bigelow said. A bank account and some oil stocks were found after his death.

Total Value Of Estate Unknown

The lawyer said he does not know yet what the total value of the estate will be. He did not say what the bank deposits totaled.

"We have yet to open a strong box in the bank," he said.

The recluse made a will but never signed it, the lawyer revealed. It was drawn up before his death but the day he was to sign it Leney became delirious.

Mr. Bigelow said he was instructed by a cousin, Eric Leney of Duncan, to administer the estate. He said Leney has a brother and sister living in England.

Leney was brought up before the Saanich police court a few months before his death on a fire hazard charge laid under the Fire Marshall's Act. He was fined for leaving refuse and paper piled up around his home.

Leney's life is wrapped in mystery. He lived alone in his two-story house, surrounded by trees. He seldom left the confines of his property. He accumulated in his house a mass of old newspapers, tin cans, pieces of wood and trinkets of all kinds.

House Has Ghostly Atmosphere

When I visited the house today I found it ghostly, smothered by dense vegetation. The once stately garden was weed-ridden but tulips still bloomed there.

Front windows were punctured with holes. The front entrance was blocked by bushes left to run wild. Rubbish and tin cans were heaped about everywhere.

The rear door, used by the recluse, was locked with nine padlocks. Inside the rooms were littered with rubbish and all kinds of junk. A bat sleepily hung from the wall. Cobwebs were everywhere. A rat scurried across the floor and was lost among a pile of newspapers.

Not far from the house a neglected barn stood. It contained farm equipment, some of it perhaps 60 years old.

Throughout the orchard were well-worn footpaths, used by the hermit.

The award was made by Chief Justice Wendell B. Farris in Supreme Court here.

The youths sued for $1,363.

Says Air Raid On U.S. Might Be Big Affair

WASHINGTON (UP) — Civil Defence Administrator Millard Caldwell warned today that an enemy air attack on the United States "would not be a one or two-plane hit-and-run raid but a grand slam mass assault."

"It's purpose," he said, "would be to create the greatest possible panic and terror and the maximum numbers of casualties within a few hours and break the back of our production capacity."

Caldwell gave that warning at the opening of the federal Civil Defence Administration's "college" course on the threat and survival of atomic attacks.

Other opening-day speakers included Sir John Rodsoll, director general of civil defence training for the United Kingdom; Paul Martin, Canadian Minister of Health and Welfare; Assistant Secretary of State George W. Perkins and Maj. Gen. Gordon P. Saville, Air Force Deputy Chief of Staff.

Governors of seven states and Alaska and civil defence directors of nearly all other states signed up for the one-week "dry run" of a staff college established to teach modern defence techniques.

Quarrel About Beached Log Led To Fatal Shot

NANAIMO, B.C. (CP) — A quarrel over removal of a log from the rocks in Battle Bay on the northwest coast of Vancouver Island, Feb. 6, led to the fatal shooting of Louis Oscar, Indian of the Kyoquot band, Crown counsel told Mr. Justice Manson today when Martin Saxey, 35-year-old Indian, went on trial for murder.

Saxey is charged with the murder of Oscar, killed when a rifle bullet struck him as he and his brother-in-law, Michael Hanson, worked on the log.

Arthur Leighton, K.C., appearing for the Crown with Robert C. Weir, told the Supreme Court sittings here that Oscar and Hanson were removing a large log from the rocks near the shore when Saxey, who had previously initialled the log, came past in his boat and protested its removal.

He said the two men paid little attention to Saxey, whereupon Saxey fired five shots from his rifle, one of which killed Oscar.

3 Hurt As Driver Misses One Crash, Then Hits Tree

Mrs. Hazel S. Mills, of Duncan, and two unidentified passengers, were recovering from injuries today sustained late Sunday when their car narrowly avoided hitting a Langford fire truck and crashed into a tree, R.C.M.P. reported.

The three suffered cuts and bruises. They did not require hospitalization. About $300 damage was done to their car.

Police said Mrs. Mills, the driver, apparently became confused when she heard the truck siren.

The Argentine squad is expected to arrive here Friday.

Police said today that none of the victims is in serious condition.

Allies Defend Seoul

Curtain Of Fire Meets Red Hordes

Chinese Communists poured down from the north for a mass assault. Airmen spotted more than 3,000 Red vehicles moving along the western front. A force of 20,000 Communists were reported gathered as shock troops for the assault.

Only probing attacks were reported in the early hours Monday.

Van Fleet planned a defence north of the city, not house-to-house street fighting.

Gen. MacArthur and Lt.-Gen. Mathhew B. Ridgway had made no attempt to hold the city against the Chinese offensive earlier in the year. They said it was of no military importance.

But Van Fleet said Seoul has prestige as Korea's historic capital. He described the Seoul area and the line of the Han River which flows south of the city as "vital and strategic."

U.N. forces, he said, "welcome the opportunity to destroy the Communist army north of the Han."

JAIL ENDS ROMANCE

School Ma'am Taken In By Glib Confidence Man

VANCOUVER (CP)—A four-month romance ended in court today when John F. Sinclair was sentenced to a three-year penitentiary term.

A school teacher, who had charged him with fraud, told of the romance after she answered an advertisement for a "lady interested in photography."

She met Sinclair who told her he owned a ranch in the Cariboo and was an inventor of a color X-ray process and an underwater seaweed harvesting machine.

The couple became engaged and then, she said, Sinclair got possession of her station wagon and she loaned him $92.

Some time later she learned he had sold the $1,700 station wagon for $1,285.

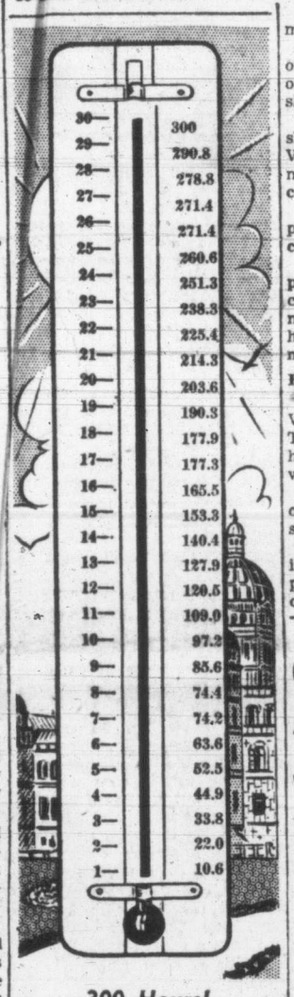

She then ended their engagement and laid a charge of fraud.

Partial Isolation May Face Island

Critical isolation in last August's national railway strike may be repeated for Vancouver Island shortly.

Crew members of the C.P.R.'s "Princess" boats are marking ballots in a strike vote this week which may result in another tie-up.

The crewmen, members of the A.F. of L. Seafarers International Union, are seeking $30 monthly raise and a 40-hour work week.

300 Hours!

By the time you read this, total sunshine for Victoria for April will be past 300-hour mark. Reading at 3 p.m. was 298.6 hours, with Old Sol still blazing from blue sky. City bettered 1918 mark of 174 hours several days ago.

There are approximately 80[illegible] members of the union balloting. They are said to include most of the "lower deck" employees of the C.P.R., the C.N.R. Steamships and Union Steamships.

If they vote to walk off their ships the C.P.R. boats linking Victoria and Nanaimo with the mainland would not be able to continue operations, it is claimed.

In addition, all coastwise shipping between Vancouver and up-coast points would be tied up.

The three major shipping companies on the coast have made a counter-offer to the seamen's demand for $30 a month and a 40-hour week, but it has not been made public.

FAR BELOW REQUEST

A spokesman of the S.I.U. at Vancouver told the Victoria Daily Times in a telephone interview, however, that it was "far below" what we are seeking."

Skippers, engineers and mates of the companies last week signed for a $25 monthly raise.

The strike vote is being taken in Vancouver as ships of the companies arrive there. It will be completed in eight to 10 days.

City Police Alerted For Jail Escapee

R.C.M.P. and local police forces of the island were alerted today to be on the lookout for a convicted prisoner who escaped from the Port Alberni jail during the night.

He is King Harold Callaghan alias Harold Lloyd Shaw, about 30. He apparently escaped between 10.30 a.m. Sunday and 9 a.m. today. He was being held in jail for delivery to the B.C. penitentiary to serve a three year term.

He was convicted last week on a charge of theft by conversion.

Mississippi Still Up

MUSCATINE, Ia. (AP)—The raging Mississippi River continued to rise again today after a levee two miles upstream from Muscatine, Ia., disintegrated early Sunday, flooding 4,600 acres of Illinois farmland. The river level climbed to 20.2 feet, more than five feet above flood stage.

Manila Under Guard

MANILA (AP)—Tanks, troops and machine-guns guarded Manila today to thwart a threatened Communist Hukbalahap May Day attack on the city. Three battalions of soldiers were deployed in Manila's outskirts.

'HOW I TOOK THE STONE'

Ian's Coat Retrieved, We Hurry From London

This is the seventh in an 18-article series by the daring leader of the group of Scottish Nationalists who removed the Stone of Scones from Westminster Abbey last Christmas Eve.

By IAN HAMILTON

We had lost our way many times coming out, and we expected to do the same going back, but suddenly I realized that we had hit Lambeth Bridge, and in a few minutes we were on Vauxhall Bridge. We looked right across towards the Abbey, and wondered what was happening in the Confessor's Chapel.

We stopped the car on Millbank and argued who should retrieve the coat. Alan claimed it was his job since he had left it there but I would not listen to him, for I could not sit in the car waiting while someone else had the excitement.

I walked over to the car park where a few hours before I had smoked and thought we were beaten. There was no one in sight, and I immediately picked up the coat and returned to the car.

I looked at it ruefully. It was worn and torn in many places. There was a rent two feet long in one place, and I knew it was beyond repair.

It had been a good coat, and I wondered what my father would say when he saw it.

As we drove away, I suddenly remembered the plaque which had been in my coat pocket when we were dragging the Stone. I asked Alan what he had done with it.

"I hid it on a bombed site," he said. We went back to try to
